Wallace Blasts Courts

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama lashed out again last night at the federal courts and portrayed himself as a defender of states' rights, not a bigot or racist.

"Now I know that we have some fine federal judges," Wallace said in a speech before the Amen Corner, an organization of Pittsburgh professional men and businessmen. "But the federal judiciary has been unrestrained."

"We," the former governor said in referring to Alabama, "don't like it because the federal courts have stepped into every phase of government that should be left to the respective states. . . . That's all we're talking about—the right of home rule or territorial integrity."

Wallace's speech before a jam-packed audience in the ballroom of a downtown hotel was the second of four he is to make on a swing through the North, a trip that many believe is to sound out support for a possible bid for president.

The crowd cheered Wallace frequently and several times stood to applaud him.

Outside the hotel, the mood was different. Hundreds of civil rights pickets, many carrying signs that labeled Wallace a bigot, paraded around the hotel. The demonstration was orderly, and the pickets dispersed before Wallace completed his speech.

Wallace attacked news media for "branding people as racist or bigots. I'm neither one. They've distorted things about my position"

"I have never in my public life made a speech reflecting on the rights of people because of their race, creed, color or religion . . .," he said. "You can't see WALLACE Page A2

Court Will Study Powell's Petition

BY JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The United States Court of Appeals, after hearing arguments for an hour, decided yesterday to study at greater length a petition by Adam Clayton Powell for an order declaring his exclusion from the House unconstitutional.

The court denied a motion by Powell's lawyers for an instant reversal of a U.S. District Court ruling on April 7. That ruling said the court had no right to order the House to seat Powell. The action by the appeals court yesterday was not a ruling on the question of its jurisdiction over the House action.

The Manhattan Democrat's lawyers told the three-judge appeals court panel he should be seated in the House on the basis of his 1966 election, not the special election of April 11. The distinction is important they said, because it involves not only Powell's salary since March 1, but his seniority, which they insist is a valuable asset to the voters of Harlem.

The appeals bench will deal with the case of the usual appeals basis, except for waiving certain rules about the briefs in the interest of speed. The three-judge appeals panel had raised questions in advance

Weather Slows Air Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Weather slowed the snowballing American air war against North Vietnam yesterday. Protective clouds cloaked much of the Red River valley after a week marked by strikes at previously immune targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas.

The U.S. Command skies were somewhat clearer in the southern panhandle, where jet squadrons daily attack roads, truck parks, bridges, railroads and water traffic. There was no tabulation on the number of missions.

South of the border, U.S. planes and artillery sought to rout North Vietnamese regulars from strategic Hill 861, which they had held against attacks by about 300 American Marines in a battle that opened Tuesday. Bombs and shells blasted at the enemy bunkers. Associated Press photographer Richard Merron reported from the scene — near the Laotian frontier three miles north- See VIETNAM Page A2

FULL SENATE TO DECIDE

Committee Recommends Sen. Dodd's Censure

BY WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee unanimously recommended yesterday the censure of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, accusing him of financial misconduct which "tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

Defiant and insisting he is innocent, the Connecticut Democrat said he will fight the charges, stay at his post in the Senate — and run for reelection in 1970.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., pronounced in the Senate the judgment of the six-member committee which he heads. Dodd listened in silence. After 14 months of investigation, that process took six minutes.

Now the white-haired Dodd's fate is in the hands of the Senate itself, the Internal Revenue Service and the Justice Department.

The bipartisan committee — three Democrats and three Republicans — based its recommendation on these two key findings:

1. That the Connecticut senator used at least $116,083 in politically raised campaign and testimonial funds "for his personal purposes."

2. That Dodd billed both the Senate and private organizations for seven trips he made between 1961 and 1965.

It criticized, without censuring, his relationship with Julius Klein, an agent for West German business interests.

And it said the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service should consider "possible violations of law" in Dodd's financial maneuvers.

At the heart of the 27-page report was the resolution of cen-

Nellie S. Samuelson Dies in Auto Crash; Borough Driver Held

Nellie S. Samuelson, 77, of 513 Conewango ave., was killed in a two-car traffic accident in Cleveland early yesterday.

"Being held for investigation in connection with manslaughter," is Robert E. Hansen, 51, of 300 East st., a Cleveland police spokesman said.

Police said Miss Samuelson was the sole passenger in a car driven by Hansen. She was reportedly thrown out of the car when it and another car collided at the intersection of Euclid ave and East blvd., near University Circle.

Miss Samuelson was reportedly dead on arrival at Lakeside University Hospital, Cleveland, at 12:20 a.m.

Hansen was said to have suffered minor injuries. A Cleveland woman, Phyllis Peters, 27, of East 102nd st., was injured in the accident. She was reportedly listed last night in good condition at Lakeside University Hospital.

Details of the accident were not available yesterday, but police did say Hansen and Miss Samuelson were en route home from an opera. The intersection where the accident occurred reportedly was controlled by a traffic light, the spokesman said.

Miss Samuelson was a bookkeeper at Morrison's Ladies

Ready-To-Wear and Accessories. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, the Lutheran Church Women, and Warren Grange.

Born in Warren Nov. 4, 1889 she lived here all her life.

Surviving are a brother, Earl Samuelson of Warren; two nieces, Mrs. Patricia Guher of Warren and Mrs. Raymond Billstone of Cobham Park rd.; and a nephew, Dean Swanson of Athens, Tenn.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Expo 67 Opens With Word: Go

By ADA LOUISE HUXTABLE

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

MONTREAL—The word is: Go. Expo 67 is a fun fair, the fairgoers' fair, the professionals' fair. It has substance and style. It will go down in the books for many of the details collected by architects, planners and designers.

Expo opened yesterday.

Expo is overwhelming in its sheer size—700 acres. It is a perfect fair site, two islands and a point in the St. Lawrence River, laced with canals and pools, a potential fairyland when those cold Canadian air masses stop moving in, the last snow melts on the riverbanks and the pinched frozen flowers bloom.

Expo is also overwhelming in quality. The sophisticated standard of excellence maintained in this enormous effort, a six-month miracle, almost defies description.

Every pavilion has been reviewed and every detail planned, designed or coordinated by Expo's architecture and design staff headed by Edouard Fiset, a man of obvious esthetic and diplomatic talents. From site plan to street signs, Expo is exceptional. Yet, with controls, there is no lack of variety.

There is excitement; the genuine heavy stuff that comes from creativity. The fair has flair.

There are more good buildings, more fine, foolish or fascinating structural experiments, more stunning display techniques and superior graphics, more top-notch exhibits, less phoney lath and plaster, less fake-world-of-the-future, and less commercialism than at any World's Fair of recent memory. (It is necessary to note that New York's late fizzle was not a World's Fair. It was denied the accreditation by the Paris

Westmoreland to Address Joint Congressional Meet

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland conferred with President Johnson and other top administration officials yesterday as he prepared to present a commander's-eye view of the Vietnam war to Congress and the nation's governors.

The four-star general is due to brief the governors at a White House session and address a joint meeting of Congress at the capitol today.

His day-long round of meetings began with a 7:30 a.m. session at the Pentagon and proceeded through a forenoon conference with Johnson at the White House.

Presidential Press Secretary George Christian said among the others present were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Gen. Earl G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Christian gave no details of the discussion.

In between conferences during the day Westmoreland, who commands U.S. forces in Vietnam, did some editing and polishing of the text he will deliver at today's appearance before the Senate and House.

He is the first commander to leave an active war theater to address Congress. Other top military leaders have appeared before the legislators in different circumstances.

In 1945, at the end of World War II, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adm. Chester Nimitz addressed Congress, but the fighting in their respective theaters of operation had ended.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur was a guest speaker in 1951, after President Harry S. Truman relieved him of his command in Korea.

Westmoreland's speech has taken on new dimensions of interest in the wake of a controversy stirred up this week by his address at the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York on Monday.

Congressional critics of the administration's war policies charged that Westmoreland's appeal for support of the war effort was aimed at stifling debate.

Mrs. Alexander C. Flick Dies at Local Hospital

Mrs. Annette Stone Flick, 60, of 123 East Fifth ave., died at Warren General Hospital at 1:40 a.m. Thursday, April 27, 1967.

Surviving are her husband, Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Samuel (Elizabeth) Dickey of Media; and a grandson, Samuel Dickey Jr.

The daughter of Ralph Warren and May Ruland Stone, she was born Aug. 20, 1906, in Warren and was a lifelong resident of the community.

Mrs. Flick was a graduate of Warren High School and Vassar College. Prior to her marriage, she taught French at Warren High School. Throughout her life she devoted her time and talent to furthering education. She served as a teacher for many years in the released-time religious education courses and also taught a Sunday School class at First Presbyterian Church.

The Woman's Club and Blue Stocking Club were aided by her programs and she taught a French class for adults at the Woman's Club.

A member of the Citizens' Advisory Committee of Edinboro College, she also served on various local scholarship committees.

She was an active member of Warren Hospital Auxiliary.

Friends may call at Lutz-Vermilyea Funeral Home from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. today. Funeral services will be held in the memorial parlors of First Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. tomorrow. The Rev. Donald H. Spencer will officiate. Burial will be in Oakland Cemetery.

FOR BUDDHA'S BIRTHDAY

Viet Holiday Ceasefire Assured

BY HEDRICK SMITH

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Another holiday ceasefire in the Vietnam war was virtually assured yesterday by an announcement by the clandestine Viet Cong radio that Communist forces would observe a 48-hour truce in honor of Buddha's birthday, May 23. The State Department said this was the first reaction from the Communists to a suggestion on April 8 by the South Vietnamese government for a 24-hour ceasefire on the annual Buddhist holiday.

The United States has already announced that it would go along with a 24-hour halt in offensive action, including bombing of North Vietnam. But it warned that bombing might be resumed during the truce period if the enemy used that period for a major effort to resupply its forces.

The Communist announcement, carried on the Viet Cong's liberation radio and monitored in Asia for relay to Washington, had been expected by the allies. American officials discouraged any exaggerated hopes for a prolonged pause in the conflict. Administration sources said the prospect of another pause in fighting would undoubtedly bring renewed diplomatic efforts to find an acceptance opening toward peace talks.

But with both sides taking a hard line at present and with fighting more intense than ever, these officials said they saw nothing at present which suggested that more than a one-day ceasefire would take place, unless there were unexpected developments.

The Communist decision was announced in the name of the presidium of the central committee of the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong. It did not specify the precise times of the ceasefire that Communist forces would observe.

In past holiday truce periods, the Viet Cong military command normally announces the precise hours of the ceasefire after the political leaders accept the idea in principle.

The Communist announcement was made as President Johnson met with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander in Saigon, and other advisers to review the progress of the war and go over reported military requests for more American troops in Vietnam.

Officials indicated that as part of an overall review of the war, the administration was again going over the pros and cons of air attacks against the port facilities of Haiphong.

Martins Ferry Teachers Face Contempt Charges

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP)—Teachers in Martins Ferry, in a dispute with the school board, remained away from classrooms for the second day yesterday and must now face possible contempt of court charges.

Attorneys for the board of education were preparing an affidavit charging the teachers and the Ohio Education Association (OEA) with contempt in violation of a temporary injunction of last October.

Board attorney Thomas L. Jones said the injunction enjoined the Classroom Teachers Association (CTA) and the OEA from "doing anything that interferes with the Martins Ferry city school system operation."

"There is a very definite possibility that the board will sue the teachers and OEA for damages," Jones said.

The teachers refused to go to work Wednesday and again yesterday. Wednesday afternoon Supt. of Schools John C. Pickens sent notices to the teachers saying they had violated Ohio's Ferguson Act which bans strikes by public employees. Pickens said this terminated the contracts of 87 of the system's 133 teachers.

The teachers moved their "professional study day" across the Ohio River to Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday.

"We were advised by our attorneys to move out of Belmont County so we could not be served with a contempt notice in one building at the same time," said Allen Martin, president of CTA.

The CTA boycott of classrooms forced Pickens to call off classes and send home more than 3,000 students until "further notice."

The CTA group includes about 120 of the city's 133 teachers as members, but not all of them participated in the walkout.

The dispute, which both parties agreed has been building for several years, centers around CTA's fight to gain recognition from the school board.

Researchers Say Vocational Education Programs Lacking

By WILLIAM E. DEIBLER
HARRISBURG (AP) — A team of educators said yesterday that a two-year study of vocational education in nine areas in the Northeastern United States has shown that present programs have not met the needs of either students or communities.
In releasing a report of the study, the educators called for major overhauls in vocational education programs to increase their impact and help dispel the idea the curriculum provide "a second-class education."

The $200,000 study was financed by the U.S. Office of Education. It was conducted by Pennsylvania State University's Institute for Research on Human Resources and Rutgers, the state university of New Jersey.
Co-directors were Dr. Jacob K. Kaufman, professor of economics at Penn State, and Dr. Carl J. Schaefer, chairman of the department of vocational-technical education at Rutgers.
The educators surveyed vocational education programs in Philadelphia, Allentown and Allentown; Camden County, Trenton and Atlantic City, N.J.; Cleveland and Findlay, Ohio; and Baltimore, Md.

Both Kaufman and Schaefer stressed that the report was not to be interpreted as a sweeping indictment of vocational education programs.

"A lot of claims made by vocational education people have not been substantiated," Kaufman said, "but that doesn't mean they are not doing a good job."

Schaefer said the report was "an attempt to temper any real criticism" of vocational education.

"We aren't saying what we saw was bad," he added.

Their report states: "What the schools were doing, they were doing adequately. Their weaknesses reflect those things they should have been doing but (which) they were not."

Among the weaknesses cited in the report were:

—There is little relationship between the proportions of enrollment in various vocational programs and occupational distributions in communities.

—Low enrollments exist despite the generally high quality of the programs being offered.

—Guidance, job placement and follow-up services for vocational students are poor.

—Most vocational directors do not have easy access to school superintendents. Therefore, they are not assured that adequate attention and resources are being directed to vocational offerings.

—Vocational schools have only limited contact with the communities they serve. Many employers and union leaders are pessimistic about vocational education.

The report made four major recommendations for overhauling vocational programs:

—Create broader-based programs geared to pupils who do not plan to attend college, but who do not wish to enter one of the traditional vocational programs.

—Place more responsibility on schools to provide active job placement services for students who complete vocational courses.

—Place, as well as train, Negroes to assure more employment opportunity.

—Create a wider option of vocational education programs for girls.

find it, and I never will make such a speech. I was the governor of all the people of Alabama."

In his criticism of the courts, Wallace said, "We have found that the courts of this country have made it impossible to convict a criminal. You get hit in the head on the street — while the man who hit you is out of jail before you even get in the hospital."

Wallace said many college students want to know why he talks about property rights as opposed to human rights. "Property rights," he said, "are human rights and in those countries, such as Russia and China, where property rights have been destroyed, human rights have been destroyed, too."

As a marshal, Chen Yi won fame in China's civil war as the conqueror of Shanghai.

Mao, as party chairman, heads the military commission, but it is actually run by Defense Minister Lin Biao, his heir apparent.

Chen Yi has been under mounting attack from teenage Red Guards, who support Mao in his power struggle with President Liu Shao-chi, but the powerful purge chief, Chen Po-ta, has come to his defense. At the same time, however, Chen Po-ta said Chen Yi committed errors.

Expo

Bureau of International Exhibitions given to Montreal, and was therefore unable to attract the government-sponsored national participation that is an international exhibition's reason for being a measure of greatness. To put it bluntly and comparatively, the New York effort was dull, dated and shoddy.

Expo will have its problems, its successes, failures and controversies. It is already being attacked as overplanned or underplanned.

The big debate of the opening, however, which promises to continue for the duration, is over the U.S. pavilion, Buckminster Fuller's dominating 20-story "skybreak bubble" and its disarming and delightful displays.

By now everyone knows that a deliberate stroke of psychological as well as physical planning placed the looming constructions of the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. virtually side by side. If the effect has been calculated, the two displays could not be more different.

The glass-walled Soviet pavilion, its huge swooping roof supported by immense V-trusses, is jam-packed with all the impressive technological displays that it can hold.

The American exhibition, by a group of young architects called the Cambridge Seven, is a highly selective, airy distillation of the American creative spirit in the arts and sciences. It is a suave, witty, sensitive, subtle, artful, elegant and profound. It is also beautiful. The sense of achievement carried lightly and with elan (accented) is the best possible message on the American way of life. Like all skilled performances, this one comes off with deceptively effortless charm and grace.

To those who believe in the "hit 'em with everything you've got" technique, it is a lightweight show. To this observer, it is a solid success.

To prove that we have a democracy, the nadir of Expo is reached by another American effort, a pseudo-colonial bomb by the state of Maine.

The handsome West German tent by Rolf Gutbrod and Frei Otto has been well-publicized in the usual pre-opening mythology as one of the more radical stars of the show.

With light filtering softly through the translucent plastic skin lining the steel mesh slung on eight steel masts soaring to 120 feet, it suggests a superb space-age garden party. Inside, however, steel platforms cut up the luminous flowing interior, and the content of the exhibit is overwhelmed by the complex didacticism of the display techniques.

It has been a long way from the famous plaster classical colonnades of the Chicago World's Columbia Exhibition of 1893 to the space frames of Expo. A long way for the world, and for World's Fairs.

OPENING TONIGHT

Love, Marriage Mixture 'Private Lives' Theme

By DAN SMREKAR

There can be times when love and marriage do not mix. Two examples make up the "Private Lives" produced by Warren Campus Theater, to be held tonight and tomorrow night in Market Street school.

At a preview of the play last night, the college actors aroused a feeling of compassion. Yet in many scenes there was great bitterness as two divorced couples were reunited—each with a new spouse on honeymoons.

Genie Smith portrayed Sibyl, the affectionate wife of Gary Lawson (Elejot Chase) and became the character most unable to cope with the emotion-packed play. Her appearances were frequented with tears.

Kym Jansen, who stars as Amanda Prynn, more easily adopts to the situation and assumes a more domineering role as she finds that she still wants her former husband, Gary. But, when the two are matched, it becomes easy to see why they were divorced in the first place.

Lawson represents the most successful lover. Kym retains her love for him but Genie also is willing to make a go of the new marriage. His poise adds a great deal to the acts and at times becomes frivolous in tense situations.

John Anderson becomes the other husband in the affair and also demonstrates an inadequacy to cope with the whole ordeal, much like his former wife Genie.

The entire play is a rather fast moving farce. While none of the actors could be considered "seasoned performers," they all have had past roles in Warren Players Club productions, other college plays and high school productions.

Although scenery was still being constructed during last night's preview, it is apparent all will be in readiness for today's 8 p.m. performance.

The auditorium has a seating capacity of 250 and will be a welcome change to past off-campus performances held in the limited facilities in the East street college building.

The production, which develops into a witty comedy, will be highly enjoyable to the audience.

The director, Richard Andersen, has had broad experience with theatrical presentations and is currently the president of Warren Players Club. He is considered by many to be the foremost literary critic in the area.

Tickets will be sold at the door or may be obtained by phoning the college.

Queen Pageant Tomorrow Night

Miss Warren County will be chosen at Beauty Junior High School Auditorium tomorrow night.

General admission tickets for $1 and reserved seat tickets for $1.25 will be sold at the door.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m. the program will have 10 contestants, competing in five events: an evening gown display, a swimsuit competition, a talent contest, tests of intellect and personality and the answering of a final question.

LeRoy Schneck will be master of ceremonies.

The local Jaycees-sponsored contest has official franchises from the Miss Pennsylvania and Miss America pageants. The girl who becomes Miss Warren County will go to Hershey in June for state competition.

Freak Accident Wrecks Four Autos; Two Men Hospitalized

A freak traffic accident on Fourth ave. yesterday afternoon resulted in injuries to two elderly Warren men.

While hanging on a car door, William Crouse, 76, of 514 1/2 Fourth ave., sustained multiple abrasions and a cut on the right hand.

George D. Todd, 80, of 512 Fourth ave., driver of the car carrying Crouse, received cuts on the scalp and right elbow and abrasions of the forehead and shoulders.

Both men were reportedly in satisfactory condition at Warren General Hospital last night.

Also taken to the hospital, after the mishap at 2:07 p.m. were Helen Branch 68, of 311 Market st., and Madelyn Lyon, 70, of 207 Market st. Neither suffered serious injuries and both were released from the hospital.

The accident involved the Todd car, two parked cars, and a car driven by Alice S. Leidig, 69, of 5 Conewango pl. The two women injured were passengers in the Leidig car.

Sgt. Donald E. Fitch and patrolman Charles W. Musante investigated the accident. Musante said of accident.

"Mr. Todd had just purchased a new car and was sitting in the driver's seat in his driveway. His neighbor (Crouse) was leaning over the open left front door.

"All at once the car started backwards very fast, with the neighbor still hanging on the door. It sped out of the driveway onto Fourth ave., backing toward the east in the south lane.

"The Leidig car, which was traveling east on Fourth ave., was struck on the left rear by the left rear bumper of the Todd car.

"The impact sent the Leidig car out of control and into the rear of a car parked (by Bessie E. Karl of RD 1, Clarendon) at the south curb, about 100 feet east of the original impact.

"The impact also sent the Todd car out of control and it crashed its front end into the side of a car parked (by Mabel

R. Kellogg of 511 Fourth ave.) at the south curb in front of 511 Fourth ave."

Total estimated damages were $1,700: $800 to the Todd car, $500 to the Leidig car, $200 to the Karl car, and $200 to the Kellogg car.

Yemenis Demonstrate Against U. S. Development Mission

By HEDRICK SMITH
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The State Department reported the second consecutive day of mass demonstrations in republican Yemen yesterday calling for the ouster of the American Agency for International Development mission there.

A department spokesman said there was no violence as in Wednesday's ransacking of the A.I.D. mission by a large mob. But he said Yemeni authorities were still holding four American A.I.D. employees without offering any explanation.

The new incident came as Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R. N.Y.) warned that, with rising tension in Yemen and neighboring South Arabia, the Middle East might turn into another Vietnam with the United States reluctantly becoming "the policeman" as Britain withdraws from this region.

There were indications that the anti-American incidents in Yemen were adding strains to the already troubled relations between Washington and President Nasser's United Arab Republic, which has 40,000 troops in Yemen bolstering the republican regime.

The State Department said the U. S. embassy in Cairo had "made representations" to the Egyptian government about the anti-American incidents in Yemen.

David Nes, the American charge d'affaires in Cairo, was understood to have asked the U.A.R. foreign minister, Mahoud Riad, for Egyptian help in securing the release of the four Americans held by Yemeni authorities.

In yesterday's demonstrations, the State Department reported that about 1,000 Yemenis rallied outside the A.I.D. mission in Taiz and chanted such slogans as "No more Americans after today." Wednesday, a larger mob smashed cars, windows and furniture at the mission. Taiz, in southern Yemen, has become the headquarters for the radical Arab nationalist campaign against the British and conservative Arab rulers in Aden and South Arabia.

So far there has been no clear indication of what, if anything, provoked the incidents.

Cherry after firing several shots in the 100 block of West 19th at 8:36 a.m. yesterday, is being questioned by detectives in connection with the murder.

No charges have yet been filed and detectives refused to identify the youth who was arrested after nine police cars and three motorcycles converged on the scene. The youth was barefooted and a loaded pistol taken from him by arresting officer Larry Weiss.

According to Det. Capt. Raymond Lapenz, the murder suspect will also be questioned for the armed robbery of the Spur Service Station, 1533 Parade, at 1:05 a.m.

About five minutes after Fytikas was shot at 2:16 a.m., Patrolman Kenneth Sidum, walking his beat near 18th and Peach, stopped a youth who matched the description of the Spur holdup man.

Sidum asked for identification. The teenager gave Sidum a name and produced a social security card. The officer told the youth he would have to go to the police station and turned to call a car on the police phone.

Lapenz said the youth pulled a gun and held it to the officer's back, then ran north on Peach. Sidum chased the suspect, but was unable to catch him.

Lapenz said a waitress was in the basement of the restaurant at the time of the murder and attempted holdup. Stella McIntyre, of 1522 Myrtle, told police she heard footsteps in the restaurant and then a loud strange voice ask for money.

The waitress said she then heard Fytikas, who spoke with a heavy accent, say, "No money." She said she heard what she described as two shots and frightened, locked herself in the restroom for several minutes.

The restaurant owner was pronounced dead at 3:40 a.m. at St. Vincent's Hospital of internal bleeding.

Lapenz theorized only one shot had been fired and a second noise heard by Mrs. McIntyre, was apparently by a cup which Fytikas threw at the holdup man after he was shot.

According to Lapenz, Fytikas was shot, threw the cup at the fleeing robber and then tried to reach a phone at the back of the restaurant. The victim was found near the telephone when the inhalator squad arrived at the scene.

Republicans Outregister Democrats across State

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republicans outregistered Democrats in Pennsylvania for the first time in seven years, according to primary election registration figures made available yesterday by the state Elections Bureau.

The final count for the May 16 primary stood at: Republicans—2,581,988; Democrats—2,574,469, a slim advantage of 7,499 for the GOP.

Thus, the Republicans were able to reverse the Democratic advantage which began in the 1960 general election when the Democrats outregistered the GOP for the first time in state history by 4,965.

That turning point came in the second year of the Democratic Lawrence Administration and the sixth consecutive year of Democratic control of the governor's office.

The newly organized conservative Constitutional Party showed little statewide strength in its first registration drive since being officially certified as a third political party in the state after last year's gubernatorial election.

Final Constitutional Party figures amounted to 2,639.

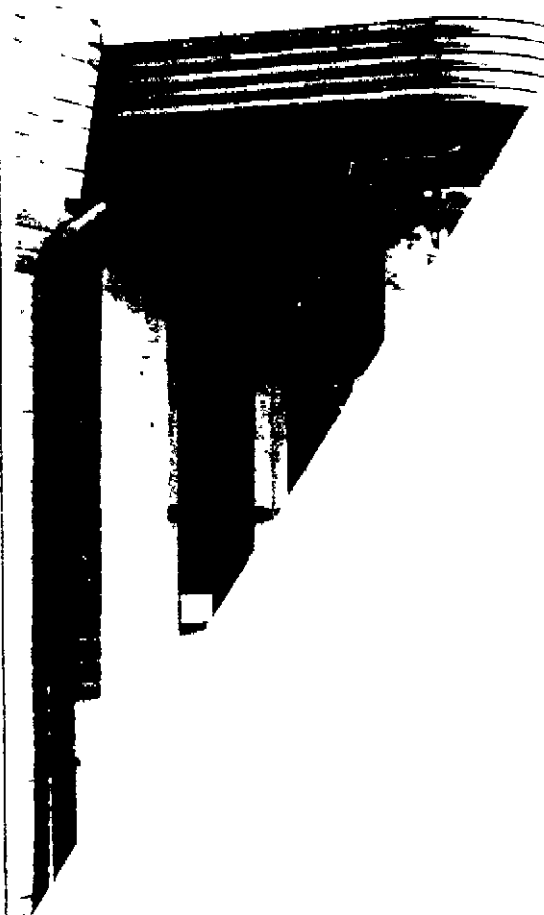

The non-partisan total was 66,686, while other party registrants—Socialists, Prohibitionists, etc.—numbered 3,785.

The GOP's return to the majority party in this state was announced at a breakfast meeting of the Republican State Committee convened to urge party support for the nine constitutional questions on the May ballot.

Gov. Shafer immediately hailed the report as a "tribute to everyone in this room." He told the party leaders:

"I know how hard you have worked to make this possible. I'm very proud."

Time to Vote 'Yes'

On May 16 we as voters will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on whether a Constitutional Convention with limited powers shall be called. It is one of "the nine vote yes questions" and we urge you to vote just that.

If approved by the electors, this convention would rewrite four sections of the antiquated constitution of 1874: administration of justice, local government, state finance and reapportionment.

It also could consider any of the eight amendments that might fail at the Primary Election.

These eight questions do the following:

1-A: Declaration of Rights - Modernizes the wording of sections prohibiting the creation of special criminal tribunals and prohibiting forfeiture of estates to the Commonwealth. . . adds a provision prohibiting discrimination or denial to any person of his civil rights. . . eliminates a meaningless section which allows emigration from the state.

2-A: The Legislature - Makes the General Assembly a continuing body for the elected term of its members. . . requires the Governor to call a special session upon petition by a majority of both houses. . . prohibits members of the General Assembly and state employees from holding any other civil office to which a salary or fee is attached.

3-A: Legislation - Streamlines the legislative process, removing outmoded and unnecessary language relating to legislative duties and procedures. . . establishes a system of competitive bidding for state purchases. . . incorporates an unnumbered section relating to land title registration in the new article.

4-A: The Executive - Provides for joint election of Governor and Lieutenant Governor (as is now the case with U.S. President and Vice President) . . . makes Governor and Lieutenant Governor (but no present incumbents) eligible for one succeeding term . . . clarifies right of succession to these offices . . . reconstitutes Pardons Board, with a lawyer, doctor and penologist appointed by the Governor to become members . . . makes the State Treasurer ineligible to become Auditor General until at least four years after his service as Treasurer.

5-A: Election - Reduces residency requirements in Pennsylvania for new voters from one year to ninety days . . . makes provisions for contesting elections involving referendum questions . . . makes it mandatory for General Assembly to provide for some form of absentee voting. . . repeals unnecessary and inconsistent sections.

6-A: Future Constitutional Amendment - Provides an accelerated method of Constitutional amendment in the event of a major emergency threatening the Commonwealth. The method: one-time passage by a two-thirds vote in the Legislature to be followed by immediate public advertisement and submission to voters on a ballot one month thereafter.

7-A: Unnecessary Provisions - Repeals provisions relating to railroads and canals since such matters are within the province of the General Assembly and should not be part of a constitution.

8-A Conservation of Natural Resources - Authorizes the General Assembly to create a land and water conservation, reclamation, and development fund of $500 million with implementing legislation spelling out a specific 10-year plan to spend $50 million each year for such purposes as land reclamation and soil conservation, and the purification of water by construction of sewage treatment facilities.

The Constitutional Convention, if favored by the electors May 16, would be prohibited from altering the present "uniformity clause," which the State Supreme Court has ruled prohibits a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania.

The convention would also have to leave untouched the wording which prohibits borrowing or transfers from the motor fuel fund; the receipts from which are limited to highway and bridge construction repairs.

It is time to move out of the dark ages. This may not be the complete answer to a necessary modern constitution, but it is a necessary beginning. Vote "yes" on May 16.

Hunt For Steaks and Scotch

In a few weeks, millions of Americans will spring from the nest to travel. They will fly to faraway lands, many for the first time, and they will hunt for bacon and eggs and steaks and Scotch. Their minds are abroad, but their bellies remain at home. Many write to ask "What places would you like to see again?" That's easy. Often, when sleep refuses to come to bed with me, I replay the memorable visits. The drive by rented car down the hill from the Dolder-Grand in Zurich, past the sidewalk cafes near the railroad station, and across the rocky splashing stream down to Lake Lucerne makes the eyeballs drunk.

The Swiss hills are small and round and deep green. The houses are festooned with window boxes. Even the old weathered barns wear corsets of geraniums. Start in the morning. Have lunch at an outdoor cafe on the lake. Afterward, get aboard an ancient sidewheeler named the Wilhelm Tell and sail south toward the craggy Alps. Listen to the children on the foredeck sing the old Lieder. Or go to Spain. Stay at the Ritz, where the bellboys have better manners than the guests. Rent a car and drive out and see the Guadarrama mountains shimmer in the sun, as a billion wildflowers tremble for their lives. Drive to Toledo and see ox carts slow time to a walk. Watch a matador, resplendent in his suit of lights, die a little in a chapel while waiting.

Take two hours to fly to Athens, so that you can look back over your shoulder and see the great men of 2,500 years ago. Walk among the Doric columns on the Acropolis and remind yourself that, 25 years ago, the swastika snapped in the breeze of Plato's philosophy. Get aboard a private yacht on the opposite side of the harbor at Piraeus and take a seven-day cruise.

The Aegean is robin's egg blue spangled with gold, and the ancient Greek islands come up over the horizon like chocolate cupcakes. Then there's Vienna. Always Vienna. The cellar cafes are damp with old tears, and the candle flames sway in saffron ballet to Strauss waltzes.

Rome is alive with white monuments, but the Caesars prowl at night and their victims are American women. Naples is Brooklyn with an Italian accent. There the greatest hero is a sandwich. Berlin, to me, is excitement. It is one half of a Siamese twin. If you like sexy humor, go to the Pauli Club. Israel is a small conscience.

It is also God's hometown re-decorated with tanks and jets. The best hotel is the Dan in Haifa. Don't be surprised if the headwaiter, in formal tails, bows and asks: "Meat or dairy?"

The Ashoka at New Delhi is built like a Tibetan lamasery, and the dining room is a vast sea of white table tops with sprigs of blue and yellow and red flowers. The mahogany faces of a hundred bearded waiters move impassively, as spanned fingers hold silver trays aloft and heads are wrapped in orange-ice turbans. Onstage, musicians in gray tunics play long stringed instruments with a nautch beat, like Anitra's Dance.

Tokyo has no appeal for me. It is Philadelphia on Monday morning; taxis driven by kamikaze pilots; a baseball team hitting fortune cookies. But 40 miles south is Kamakura, a touch of old Japan with kimonos and obis. The outdoor Buddha diabolus squats in bronze, with seed pearls in the hair. The statue is so big that there is a staircase inside.

Hong Kong is the only place that lives up to its Hollywood billing.

In the United States, Miami is beautiful—not hot—in the summertime. This is also true of Bermuda, one of the few places where it is possible to find a private cove surrounded by black cliffs. West End, on Grand Bahama Island, is one of the best because it is a quiet luxurious place on a two-toned sea. Also it is within cab distance of the gambling casinos at Lucaya, and within boating distance of broadbill swordfish. Then, of course, if you live in the West or the South, there is always my old ballwick—New York. A wonderful place for a visit. Just don't drink the water. . .

MAISON DENISON

Straining At The Leash

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:
STRAINING AT THE LEASH—When Pennsylvania's lawmakers return to the fold Monday following this week's recess, they will face another recess—this one for two weeks for a primary election time-out!

And when the legislative greets do return to the treadmill Monday they will be starting their fifth calendar month of the 1967 go-around, with the (impressive) legislative score adding up to something like this:

Monday will mark the 121st day of the 1967 calendar year. As a point of interest, since lawmakers convened on the third day of the year, the Senate has been in session 25 legislative days, the House of Representatives 26 legislative days. In other words, within the space of the past four months the Legislature has been in session about one-fifth of the time.

On the beehive activity front 42 bills introduced in the House of Representatives have been approved by the House and sent to the Senate. The number of House bills passed by the Senate—three.

Meanwhile over in the Senate, 67 Senate bills have been cleared by that chamber and sent to the House for concurrence—of which number 29 have been passed by the House.

As for bills introduced, 592 have made their appearance in the Senate while 800 have been dumped in the legislative hopper in the House of Representatives.

On the resolution front, 31 Senate resolutions have been introduced, as opposed to 79 in the House.

SKIRTING THE ISSUE—A bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives that would authorize the Game Commission to employ female game protectors, a bill that perhaps naturally has caused some light comment among members of the lawmaking brood on Capitol Hill.

The other day a couple of lawmakers were discussing the bill, trying to imagine the shock of a hunter upon being accosted in the jungles of Pennsylvania by a female game protector, etc., when the question came up as to whether it wouldn't be advisable to permit the lady proponents of the measure to testify and express their views before the committee.

One lawmaker perhaps summed up the (inward) feeling of the others when he allowed with excellent deadpan:

"Gentlemen, I think we better skirt the issue!"

SWARM OF THE LOCUSTS—The annual pilgrimage of school-age troops to Pennsylvania's Capitol Hill has started in earnest!

Busload after busload of school kids are turning up with increasing frequency for a tour of the mound in downtown Harrisburg, and each year it seems there are more and more buildings to greet them.

The number of school children paying spring pilgrimages to the seat of Pennsylvania's state government seems to be increasing each year, not necessarily as a replacement of the usual trip to Washington (although this has happened in some instances) but as a supplement and in addition to the jog to the Nation's Capital.

The peak will come next month when at times Capitol Hill will be literally jammed with school buses, chartered buses and school kids. Student visitors are not limited to junior and senior high school levels. You'll find college boys and girls as well, plus now and then some moppets from the elementary grades, Brownies, Cub Scouts and what-not. Regardless of age—they all seem to enjoy it!

PEARSON & ANDERSON

Accentuates Different Rules

WASHINGTON — The Congressional system of two rules for ethical conduct, one for a Negro Congressman from Harlem, the other for a white Senator from Connecticut, is accentuated by the manner in which the House of Representatives permitted four white Mississippi Congressmen to be seated at the beginning of the 89th Congress.

Most people have forgotten it, but it was the same House Administration Committee which recommended severe discipline for Adam Clayton Powell which also dilly-dallied, pussy-footed, procrastinated and finally maneuvered so the four white Mississippians could keep their seats in Congress.

Under the law of 1870, by which Mississippi was readmitted to the Union after the Civil War, every citizen of Mississippi must be given the right to vote. As a result, Rep. William Fitts Ryan, D-N.Y., at the opening of the 89th Congress, challenged the right of the Mississippi Congressmen to take their seats on the ground that more than one-third of the citizens of Mississippi, namely the Negroes, had been deprived of their right to vote.

At this point Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., threw the full weight of the Johnson administration behind seating the Mississippi Congressmen. A roll call vote showed 148 Congressmen opposed to seating the Mississippians, and the matter was finally referred to the House Administration Committee. Meanwhile the white Mississippians, unlike Adam Clayton Powell, were permitted to take their seats and serve as full-voting, full-salary-drawing Congressmen.

Thanks to a lot of hocus-pocus by the House Administration Committee which cut the ground out from under Powell, the Mississippians remained there for the entire session.

The Mississippi Democratic Freedom party, which had challenged them, had gone to great lengths to collect sworn affidavits all over the state showing how Negroes by the thousands had been refused the vote in the 1964 election. The Mississippi Congressmen became so alarmed that they hired ex-Gov. Jim Coleman as their counsel. Coleman later was rewarded by President Johnson with appointment to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, where he sits today.

The Negro challengers were rewarded with an amazing turnaround by the House Clerk, Ralph Roberts, and by the House Administration Committee.

Under the law, a contested election must be ruled upon by the House within six months — in this case, July 4. But two months after July 4 the House Administration Committee, which meat-axed Adam Clayton Powell, had still refused to make a report to the full Congress.

Meanwhile, Clerk Roberts at first said he would print the record of the affidavits denying Negroes

LARRY STOTZ

Built on Thin Air and Water

While speaking before a sixth-grade class in Warren, I asked for a show of hands by all the students who lived in wooden houses. I was immediately confronted by a sea of hands. When I asked those who lived in stone or brick houses to raise their hands, only one student responded.

Since such an overwhelming majority of the students admitted living in frame houses, I thought they would be interested to know that their homes had been built largely of thin air and water.

Of course I had to explain that a marvelous piece of wizardry had entered into this transformation of thin air and water into wood. This, I told them, was a mysterious process known as photosynthesis. Ever since I first learned about the wonders of photosynthesis, I have had the greatest respect for a forest leaf. It was no longer just a paper-thin organic entity that provided shade in the summer, and became a nuisance on the lawn when it had fluttered all withered to the ground.

It was a complex little factory that could pluck carbon dioxide from the air and unite it with chlorophyll. Then through a series of chain reactions it could combine it with hydrogen and oxygen from water in the leaf to form dextrose—a sugar. From this dextrose, 95 per cent of the body of a tree was formed.

He right to vote, then reversed himself, finally printed the record with this notation at the top: "I hereby find that this testimony should not be printed." This put him on both sides of the controversy.

Meanwhile when Mississippi Negroes tried to file their briefs on June 29, Roberts made them refile on July 30. This 30-day delay gave the Mississippi white Congressmen another 30 days in which to file their briefs, and pushed the final showdown to near the time of Congressional adjournment.

Roberts then demanded that the challengers file 280 extra copies of their briefs, not 70 copies which they were told to supply at first. It took extra time to scrounge up 280 additional copies.

Following this, Roberts demanded that the names of the four white Congressmen be stricken from the brief.

Finally, he failed to print the record of Rep. John Bell Williams, the Mississippi Democrat who campaigned for Goldwater, on the ground that the challenge against Williams was unsigned. Actually the challenge handed to Williams himself was signed, the carbon copy handed to the clerk as a courtesy was not.

On such technicalities did the powerful administration leaders of Congress manipulate until it was September 17. By that time the Congressional session was about over for 1965 — and most Congressmen figured it was too late to unseat the white Mississippians. They had already served most of the year.

If the House leadership and the Johnson administration had given a break to the Mississippi challengers under the law of 1870 and the Constitution of the United States, things would be a lot different for LBJ in Congress today.

Most important difference would have been the fact that the House Rules Committee, one of the most powerful agencies on Capitol Hill, would not now be under the chairmanship of Rep. William Colmer of Mississippi, who has voted against Johnson on almost every issue. Colmer would have lost his place in Congress, and the House Rules Committee would be under forthright Rep. Ray Madden of Indiana, a strong Johnson supporter.

NOTE — Among the Congressmen who claim to favor Negro voting rights but who voted for the white Mississippians were such Brooklynites as Manny Celler, Gene Keogh, Abe Miller, Edna Kelly, John Rooney, Hugh Carey and John M. Murphy, all Democrats; such Pennsylvanians as Jim Fulton, R., William Moorhead, D., both of Pittsburgh; and Cecil King, D., Los Angeles; Ted Johnson, D., Okla.; George Fallon, D., of Baltimore, a city with a heavy Negro population; Jim Delaney, D-N.Y., who consistently sided with Cardinal Spellman in bottling up the education bill; Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo.; Edward Derwinski, R., of Chicago; Spark Matsunaga, D., of Hawaii, who claims to be a great civil rights champion; and Ben Reifel of South Dakota, a Republican and the only Indian in Congress.

No one has yet offered a wholly satisfactory explanation as to how a forest giant, such as the Sequoia, solves this problem—but solve it it does.

The most likely explanation is that as water is evaporated through tiny openings, called stomata, in the leaves, this evaporation creates enough of a pull on the continuous strands of water in the sapwood to move water from the roots to the treetop. Perhaps this is logical enough explanation for some to accept, but to me it seems too much like lifting oneself up by one's boot straps.

I find it more to my liking if some of these mysteries remain unresolved. A giant Sequoia or a tall white pine is a noble thing—an aristocrat of the plant world. I would prefer not to probe too deeply into its vital processes. It is much easier to stand in awe before one of the world's tallest trees if one's imagination can be allowed free play. I still marvel at how it can lift a column of water 350 feet vertically, and I don't think that we have the complete answer yet.

SYLVIA PORTER

The 'Single' Taxpayer

Sally is a single woman living alone in a New York City apartment and supporting herself by her earnings as a secretary. A fortnight ago Sally mailed her 1966 income tax return and paid an income tax which unfairly discriminates against her strictly because of her marital status.

Joe is a bachelor also living alone in a midtown apartment who supports himself and an aged aunt in a different household by his earnings as a junior executive. Joe has just mailed his 1966 tax return and paid a tax which unjustly penalizes him not only because he is single but also because his dependent is not his mother but the aunt who raised him after his mother's death—and therefore, he does not qualify for "head of household" status.

Our current federal income laws are brutally biased against the single individual in the U.S., both in application of tax rates and in personal exemptions.

The discrimination is indefensible. It adds a harsh financial blow to the emotional one the single status imposes, particularly on the never-married, middle-aged woman.

If you are a married couple and you have just filed a joint return for 1966, you have paid an income tax which is equivalent to what you would have paid if each of you had reported separately and paid tax on half your total income at single-person rates. You have, in effect, "split your income" to achieve a substantial tax advantage.

If you are single and you have reported the same total income as this married couple, you have paid your income tax at the much higher rate applied to the full total. You have no advantage comparable to income splitting.

If you are married with no children and living in a three-room apartment, you are entitled to two personal exemptions of $600 each to help you reduce the taxes you owe on your income.

If you are single and living in an identical apartment on another floor of the same building, you are entitled to only one personal exemption of $600. Many of your overhead costs are the same and your living expenses are much more than half those of the childless married couple, but the personal exemption rules in our tax laws do not recognize this reality.

If you too are unmarried but support people not closely related, you cannot get this status or preferred tax treatment.

In a major study of our income tax structure last fall, Joseph A. Pechman, director of economic studies for the Brookings Institution, zeroed in on the discrimination against single taxpayers, but his findings received meagre attention.

Now, though I've been comparing the tax positions of Sally and Joe with my own, and now the Pechman analysis has moved off the pages of a lengthy technical tome and into real life. As I know Sally and Joe, so you know (or are) their counterparts, for there are millions like them the nation over.

The inequities have crept into our tax structure by miscalculation and historical accident. The personal exemptions were set to protect very low income people and to help families with large numbers of children and little thought was given to the single middle-income man or woman. Income splitting was adopted in 1948 in order to give to the rest of the country the tax advantages of the states which at the end of World War II had community property laws and which treated income as if divided equally between husband and wife.

But in Pechman's words: "The needs of a household do not increase in proportion to the number of people in the household. . . Present exemptions do not cover the rock-bottom economy standard for single persons and married couples with no children but are more than adequate for families of six or more."

As for income splitting, "the practical effect is to produce large differences in the tax burdens of single persons and married couples, differences which depend on the rate of gradation and not on the level of rates. Such differences are difficult to rationalize on any grounds. Moreover, it is difficult to justify treating single persons with families more harshly than married persons in similar circumstances."

Vietnam or no, tax reform again will become a major target in 1968. This, therefore, is the time for you, America's millions of single taxpayers, to start putting pressure on Congress for elimination of the discrimination against you—via increases in your personal exemptions, liberalization of head of household provisions or other devices.

You, the single men or women, have an utterly justifiable beef. Organize to win a fair tax break!

Soyuz 1 Difficulties Known Early; Rendezvous Canceled

BY EVERT CLARK

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union knew by the fifth orbit that Col. Vladimir M. Komarov's Soyuz-1 space flight would have to be ended after a day, official sources here said yesterday.

Preparations to launch a second manned vehicle that was to rendezvous with Komarov's ship in orbit was canceled.

The Soviet astronaut tried to bring his ship in on the 16th orbit, after 24 hours of flight, but could not do so, according to the sources. He tried again unsuccessfully on the 17th and finally crashed to his death at the end of the 18th orbit, they said.

While critical problems did not arise until the first attempted re-entry, enough difficulties had arisen by the fifth orbit—about six to seven hours after launching—that ground controllers knew the flight would have to be terminated early, it was said here.

These troubles are believed to have included both Komarov's communications, and the space-ship's stabilization system.

Ironically, Komarov was out of radio contact with his ground controllers for almost eight hours because Russia has no tracking stations outside its land mass.

This period lasted from about 10 hours after launching until about 18 hours after launching—in other words, from shortly after the ground controllers had decided he was to be brought down early until a few orbits before his first re-entry attempt.

Tass, the Soviet press agency, announced after the fifth orbit that Komarov had reported this flight program was "being fulfilled successfully and that he was feeling well."

The announcement took note of the time in which Soyuz 1 would be "flying outside the zone of radio visibility from Soviet territory," and said: "In accordance with the flight program, pilot-cosmonaut Komarov will take a rest."

Officials here believe the Russian reports that Soyuz 1 like the United States Gemini space craft, was "piloted" and had "maneuverability" that earlier Russian spaceships did not possess.

There was some speculation this week that Komarov discovered trouble with his ship when he first tried out the maneuvering system, but that could not be confirmed.

There still is no reason to doubt official Russian statements that the straps of the Soyuz craft's main parachute became twisted, according to these officials.

Second Peaceful March Scheduled

By DON BANDY

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—"I'm a crime fighter. I believe in the law."

That will be the theme tomorrow as kids in Cincinnati's predominantly Negro community of Avondale march again, hopefully some 1,000 strong, in observance of Law Day, which officially is Monday.

The unique nonprotest march will be the second for the youngsters who marched on the District 4 police station last Christmas Eve to show their appreciation of the 88 policemen.

"That march did a world of good," said Roger Tilford, 38, a Negro teacher at Ach Junior High who organized both marches. "They're still talking about it and when I told them in school we would have another march, they clapped."

"The kids liked it. I really believe some of them are now able to see the policemen as a human being—like their fathers or uncles."

The first march was termed a big success by civic and business leaders in Avondale, a North Side community which has its share of juvenile delinquency.

"Our great problem," says Tilford, "has been lack of interest from the youngsters. We want them to emulate the proper people and feel they're a part of the community."

Tomorrow the youngsters will meet at Carthage School and march six blocks in the street to the District station. The 80-piece Woodward High School band and drill team will lead the parade.

Unmanned Saturn 5 Tests Postponed

By JIM STROTHMAN

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The space agency said yesterday development problems would delay the first unmanned test flights of the Saturn 5 moon rocket and a lunar landing vehicle until the late half of 1967.

Both launches previously were scheduled to occur before the end of June.

The Air Force meanwhile prepared to orbit two nuclear-detection sentries and three other military satellites early this morning.

A Titan 3 rocket, which has missed three planned launching dates because of problems, is scheduled to blast off between 5:01 a.m. and 8:13 a.m. EST to carry all five satellites to an altitude of 69,000 miles above the earth.

A faulty valve Wednesday caused fuel in the Titan 3's steering system to leak on the launch pad. There were fears that the rocket's air-conditioning system had sucked in fumes that might contaminate the payload, but officials yesterday said tests showed there was no problem.

The two nuclear-detection satellites are to join six orbited previously to help police the 1963 limited nuclear test-ban treaty. Three other payloads aboard the Titan 3 are to make engineering and scientific tests.

Sources said the launch date for the 360-foot-tall Saturn 5 has slipped to mid-August, while the moon-landing craft is not expected to be orbited on its maiden test flight until late September or early October.

The mammoth Saturn 5 is the type of rocket America plans to use to place three astronauts into orbit around the moon. The spider-legged moon-landing craft, called a lunar module, is to carry two of the crew from the orbiting mother ship to the moon's surface.

The first manned Apollo flight is not expected to occur until next year, possibly as late as spring or early summer of 1968.

U. S. AID 'Laxity' Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Testimony indicates, Sen. John L. McClellan said yesterday, that the use of some funds in the commodity import program in Vietnam was improper and "of highly questionable legality."

It also indicates, he said, "gross laxity and inefficiency" in the administration of the Agency for International Development — AID — program.

The Arkansas Democrat gave that assessment after three days of testimony before his Permanent Investigations subcommittee concerning alleged fraud and dishonesty in the program where the United States finances the imports.

Testimony at yesterday's session indicated that a Vietnamese importer named Dr. Dinh Xuan Thao set up a phony $800,000 expense account to promote a worthless battery additive.

The man in charge of the program, Assistant AID administrator Rutherford M. Poats, was questioned for a day and a half. He acknowledged there were inadequate procedures last year, but said AID has strengthened its controls.

Poats said the abuses were deplorable but unavoidable at the time due to lack of agency manpower to keep track.

BRADFORD WRONG AIRPORT NAME

It may seem a childish thing, but "Bradford" is the wrong name for the proposed regional airport at Mt. Alton. The only justification for such a name is the fact that Bradford has contributed money to previous construction on the field. That is not good enough because Bradford has benefitted accordingly in the past 32 years.

If this is to be truly a regional airport it should not be tied to any community. To do so is to qualify it as a chamber of commerce promotion. Any town near an airport would prefer to have its name used for obvious reasons, but Bradford is not even close to the field, as it so eloquently argues when our money is wanted.

If this is to be one of the many regional airports backed by state and federal funds throughout the nation, and if it is to serve all of the communities within its area, and if it is not really very close to any city or borough, then it should not be given a community name. Those federal funds to be used are not Bradford's any more than they are Warren's, and the same applies to the state's 25 per cent.

I believe the regional airport is the only means through which we can afford to have adequate commercial service in our area. I believe this contention can be supported in debate and through a study of the facts, as I have discussed them in about four recent columns.

But I do not believe you can expect the communities in the counties other than McKean to enthusiastically pour their money into the kitty if Bradford is to receive all the credit and is to enjoy the benefit of constant reference to its existence by the use of its name for the field.

This is not a little item, spawned by provincial thinking and selfish local pride. It is money in the bank for the beneficiary. And the beneficiary in this case would be Bradford.

We could make a deal, however. We will support the Bradford name for the regional airport if they will help us have the dam name changed to "Warren."

To this suggestion will come screams of anguish from Bradford. But the bases for those screams are the same ones applied to the airport by those living in communities other than Bradford. There is a great monetary advantage in having your community's name tagged on every attraction and major service within the area.

Let's have the airport, but let's give it a name that will make it of equal value to all contributors. It is a commercial project.

Lander Area News Items of Interest

Rev. Louis E. Dennis, a missionary since 1939, will speak at the Lander Methodist Church, Tuesday, May 2, at 8:00 p.m. Rev. Dennis, a native of Salisbury, Md., and missionary for the Methodist church, has served in China, Sarawak, Singapore and Malaysia.

From 1939 until 1950, he was a district missionary in China, travelling through scores of villages and towns, building and supervising churches and schools in the Yenping Annual Conference.

During the last year of that service, the Communist overran this area of China, and in 1950 Rev. Dennis and other missionaries were forced to return to the United States.

In 1951, he was appointed to service in Situ, Sarawak. In 1957 he began his service in Singapore and Malaysia, where his responsibilities have included interpretation and promotion of the church in Southeast Asia.

Rev. Dennis is on furlough in the United States to tell of his experiences and to stimulate greater understanding of Southeast Asia.

He is a graduate of Asbury College (Bachelor of Arts), Wilmersburg, Ky., Asbury Seminary (Bachelor of Divinity) and Drew University Theological Seminary (Master of Arts).

Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend. A fellowship hour will follow the service.

The Foster Cemetery Society met at the Red Cross Headquarters in Warren with seven members attending. Mrs. Mable Loree presided at the business meeting and it was voted to retain all officers for another year, and they are: president, Mrs. Loree, Vice president, Mrs. Bert Strong, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Stanton. A cancer film was shown and refreshments were served by Mrs. Loree. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. J. H. Kerschner, Miller Hill road.

The Lander Birthday Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles S. Swanson with ten members and two visitors, Mrs. Pearl Brown and Mrs. Mae Wood present. Mrs. Ira Stuflebeam and Mrs. Grace Hall received gifts from their secret sisters. A social time followed the dinner. Mrs. Hall was unable to attend the party which was in her honor. Mrs. Roy Lindell will be hostess to the group on May 16.

Sidney Mason: Candidate for County Commissioner

OPEN LETTER

To All Democrats In Warren County

Let us continue our conversation of last week about problems that concern all of us. Owing to our good fortune here in Warren County and the bringing into existence of the Kinzua Lake the population of our county is steadily growing and will continue to grow more rapidly in the near future. This development will affect the lives of all of us, workers, businessmen and, especially, property owners. If we exercise foresight we will be able to meet the need for living quarters as well as provide recreational facilities. We must ask the State to construct more adequate roads in Warren County. The necessity for this has become more and more apparent, and will become still more so in the future. The State must simply return to us in the form of better roads some of the money it collects from us.

The people are at a loss to understand what happens to the large amount of money in the form of taxes that goes from Warren County to the Capitol, all the money from the Sales Tax, the Gasoline Tax, the tax and the profit from the sale of alcoholic beverages throughout the County. Certainly some of this money should be returned to us. We need direct access to a thoroughway. We need wider and more modern roads. And we believe we are entitled to them, and should insist that our needs be given the attention and consideration they deserve.

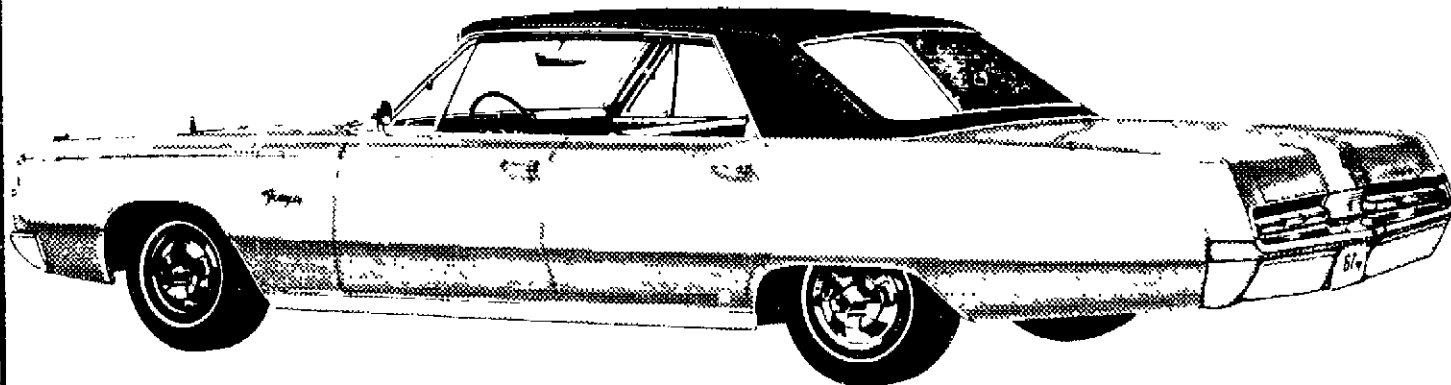

We must establish better communication between us and the State Authorities, as well as better communication between public servants and the public here at home. We cannot afford a breakdown in communication. A greater effort must be made to keep the people well informed on issues and procedures. All information must be as clear and direct as possible.

No problem will be difficult to solve, if we keep in touch with each other as members of a well-adjusted and progressive community.

I feel optimistic about the future of Warren County, and I shall do everything I can for it if you see fit to nominate me for County Commissioner on May 16.

A TEEN-AGER'S FIRST CAR

by Henry Gregor Felsen

Third of a Series

WHAT KIND OF CAR CAN YOU BUY FOR $500? What kind of car can you reasonably expect to buy for $500? A thoroughly used one.

I am not trying to be funny, merely trying to remind you what you are shopping for. You may be thinking words like, Chevy, Ford, Dodge, Pontiac, hardtop, convertible, etc., but these are only the names and general descriptions of what you are a customer for: a used engine, mounted on a used chassis, covered by a used body.

The car you buy will have had at least one, more likely several, previous owners, each one of whom used (perhaps abused) the car until, for reasons unknown, he decided to get rid of it.

Does this mean, as the old cliché states, that buying a used car is only buying someone else's troubles? Not necessarily.

You may find a one- or two-owner car which has had the best of care and is in excellent condition, and which was traded for a newer car, I have bought several used cars, and in each case they gave me service that was equal to (and in some ways better than) my new cars.

On the other hand, the car might be good-looking junk, stony on the outside, and worn out inside. Whichever it is, is for you to find out, and it can't always be done before you buy.

Good or bad, the key word is used. And this is what used means: Let's take a seven-year-old car that was owned by an old school teacher who only drove 10,000 miles a year at an average speed of 25 miles an hour. That represents 70,000 miles driven (not much on a modern engine), during which the engine ran for 2,800 hours (not counting idling time).

Now, 2,800 hours break down to 148,000 minutes that the engine ran, which doesn't seem like anything at all. If we figure very much on the low side, to make the arithmetic easy, let's say the engine operated at a very modest average of 1,500 rpm.

That means the engine in that car has turned over 222 million times! And that's what I mean by used.

If you like math, figure out for yourself how many times the pistons have gone up and down and how far they have traveled in seven years.

How many millions of bumps and road shocks has the chassis absorbed, and what has been the effect of them?

How many times was the braking system called on?

How many times were there gear changes, wear on the transmission, stresses on the driveshaft and rear end?

One can only estimate the tens or hundreds of thousands and the millions. And that still leaves a big question unanswered: How much was the car used, and how much was it abused?

How many more times will a part work until the limit of wear or metal fatigue causes a breakdown? Another 10 million times? The next time?

There is no sure way to tell, no matter how good the evidence for one car, or how bad against another.

My new car has a four-speed, and I try to be as gentle with it through the gears as possible.

There is a boy in town who has a car like mine, but who drives it differently.

He pushes both clutch and gas pedal to the floor, puts his car in gear, then lets the clutch pedal pop back all at once. And that's how he goes through the gears. He "flings out," "flays a patch" in every gear, and puts intolerable strains on his car.

If, at the end of the year, his car and mine stood side by side, for sale as used cars, which would be the better buy? On paper, and most likely in real life, mine would be. But not necessarily.

On paper, his car probably shouldn't even be running by the end of the year, but in real life it could turn out to be a better buy than mine. Once in a hundred thousand times, perhaps, but possible.

Millions of automobiles are manufactured every year which are basically identical. They are made of identical materials, assembled the identical way by the same people, and bear identical descriptions. Yet, no two "identical" cars are ever the same.

Identical parts fit better on some cars than on others. Some identically assembled cars run and handle better than their mirror images.

Some spark plugs last for 10,000 miles, and others made at the same time, in the same way, and of the same materials burn out after a thousand.

Some cars are better than others of the same type. It's a fact. It is not probable, but it is possible that this boy I have described has a car that can stand any abuse and come up as a good buy in a used car.

And it is possible that mine, for all its care, wasn't put together as well as his, or doesn't carry itself as well, or has inferior parts that escaped inspection. And mine could be, although I wouldn't bet a dime on it, a worse buy. But it could be.

The point of all this is to remind you that you are shopping for a used car, no matter what it looks like, or what name it carries.

If you buy a car that breaks down a while after you have had it, it doesn't necessarily mean that you were cheated, that you got a lousy buy, or that the brand of car is no good. It could mean that you happened to buy the car just before it reached its limit in one area or another.

This can happen to new cars as well as to old, which is one reason manufacturers are attempting to attract customers with guarantees to replace certain defective parts without cost.

If there were no such things as defective parts or poor assembly, there would be no need for guarantees. But there are, and there is.

The newer a used car is, the better guarantee you can expect from a dealer. But when you are shopping for six-, seven-, and eight-year old cars, which have seen many hours of wear and miles of travel, and which are approaching the end of their good years, you can expect very little.

A Dragon Sweep

Corky Greenwood's appointment to the Air Force Academy will give Warren Area High School a sweep: former athletes at all three service schools.

Dave Sorensen is a plebe at the Naval Academy and Warren's representative at West Point is Mike Spinney, also a first classman.

The trio has a least two accomplishments in common. All were, or in Greenwood's case are, three-sport lettermen and all are excellent students. The coincidence is not by accident, for it has been our experience that most of the top Dragon stars on the athletic field are also fine students.

Sorensen starred in football, wrestling and baseball for the Blue and White and Spinney was a monogram winner in football, basketball and track. Both were sincere, dedicated boys in sports and in the classroom.

Greenwood, like Sorensen, has represented Warren on the gridiron, mats and, currently, on the diamond. Basketball was his winter sport until last season, when he chose to try wrestling. A comparative novice on the mats, he earned a reputation as a hard worker and demonstrated an aggressive style that was reminiscent of the type of wrestling that brought Sorensen, and Dick Thompson before him, success.

It was generally conceded by coaches and fans that Corky rated the tag of "most improved" on the Warren team.

He is one of the few seniors who have participated in three sports at WAHS and certainly must be considered a leading candidate for the outstanding athlete award made annually by the school.

Corky celebrated his appointment Wednesday by rapping a triple to drive in a run in the Dragon nine's 4-1 triumph over Erie Strong Vincent.

We have no doubts that he will represent Warren well during the next four years.

Roy's "Bad Day"?

Speaking of the Strong Vincent game, one may have gained the impression that Roy Swanson had a bad day on the hill, but let's look at the facts.

Despite losing his string of hitless and scoreless innings early in the game, Roy matched his record against Meadville with 11 strikeouts and one walk.

And he gave up only three hits, a performance Coach Bob Kucher will take any day, being grateful for only one safety over the last five innings. Of the last sixteen men he faced from the second inning on, he fanned nine, got one to pop-up to the infield, two hit easily-handled ground balls and another hit a fly to right field that Jim Mock gathered in.

Chuck Serafini, the Colonels' number three batter, ripped a single up the middle off him in the sixth, but Roy whirled and threw a perfect strike to Doug Sorensen covering second base to pick Serafini off after recording the second out of the inning on a third strike.

He went to the full count before giving up a base on balls to Carmen Montevocchio in the fourth frame, but set the next three batters down on a strike-out, the fly to Mock and a ground ball to Greenwood at first.

Take away the four Colonel errors in the first inning and it might have been a 2-1 ballgame, or even 1-1 after seven innings. But Swanson was showing no signs of tiring and would have continued to set the visitors down until his teammates got him the winning run.

Only one thing distinguished a rather anemic Dragon attack: clutch hitting. The Blue and White has been able to collect only nine hits in two games, but four have been for extra bases and two came with men on base Wednesday.

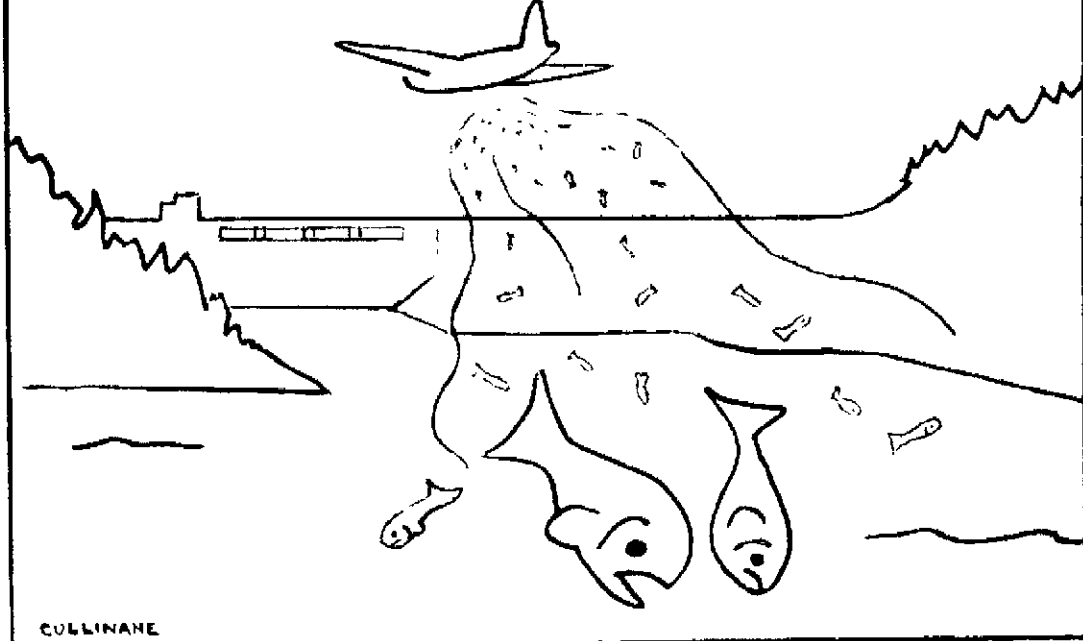

The local club's hitting will have to improve if they expect to keep on winning. Even Roy Swanson needs some support.

STEELE SHAVINGS—Mike McCoy is reportedly hovering around the 300-pound mark as a freshman at Notre Dame. The ex-Erie Cathedral Prep grid and mat star is expected to start at a defensive tackle for the Irish next season and Parseghian is moving All-America candidate Kevin Hardy out to defensive end to make room for him. Irish coaches hope to get McCoy "down" to 275-pounds by fall.

Clyde Frantz, two-time PIAA State Wrestling Champion from Hughesville, will enter Penn State this fall. He won the 133-pound title in 1965 and the 138-pound crown last season.

Two predictions: 1. The AAU has finally gone too far in suspending Penn State's Steve Cohen and several other outstanding gymnasts and may soon reap the sour fruit of its childish interference. 2. The University of Pittsburgh will return to the ranks of the national grid powers in three years, thanks to Dave Hart's aggressive recruiting.

"WELL, I'LL BE DAMMED"

Bradley Returns, Knicks Sign Him for Four Years

By JACK HAND

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Bradley, the Rhodes scholar from Princeton, agreed to play pro basketball with the New York Knickerbockers yesterday.

Bradley is a four-year contract believed to call for close to $500,000.

Although the 23-year-old Bradley will be called up for duty in the Air Force for six months from July until January, the Knicks expect him to be ready for action in the latter part of next season.

Bradley, due to return to Oxford University in England to continue his studies until June, was present at a noon news conference.

No salary terms were announced by Irving Felt, chairman of the board of Madison Square Garden which owns the Knicks, was quoted in a mimeographed handout as saying "to my knowledge the contract is for one of the largest money amounts ever paid a professional athlete in a team sport."

As several big league baseball players get $100,000 or more a year, the estimate on Bradley's salary with fringe benefits went as high as $500,000 for the four-year period.

Bradley, an All-America player at Princeton and a member of the 1964 Olympic team, is a 6-foot-5, 205-pounder from Crystal City, Mo. He averaged over 30 points a game at Princeton and played amateur basketball with the Simmental team at Milan in Italy while studying in England in 1965-66. He did not play with a regular team last winter.

"I played at Oxford," said Bradley, already wearing a light blue blazer with "N.Y. Knicks" over the breast pocket. "You might say basketball at Oxford would be something like cricket at Crystal City."

Originally drafted by the Knicks when he still was at Princeton, Bradley spurned pro offers when he won the Rhodes scholarship. He said he might try to go to law school while playing basketball but had made no firm decision.

Asked why he had decided to play pro ball, Bradley said, "The main factor was that I really found, during my two years away, something that I suspected all along. I love the game of basketball. I know this may be considered trite but that is the way I feel."

"Last winter I had refrained from playing for about three weeks before I went to a gym all alone. In a few minutes I was both teams, the sportscaster, the crowd and my own personal critic."

Bradley said there were other obvious reasons for his decision — money, undoubtedly — and hoped to perform capably as a Knick.

Bradley said he had been approached by the owner of the New York team in the new American Basketball Association, a rival of the National Basketball Association to which the Knicks belong, but rejected their offer.

Bradley is studying the philosophy of politics and economics at Oxford but has not made up his mind on his life's work.

"I'm only 23," he said in answer to a question about his future. "It's like asking a boy of six what he wants to be. He'll probably say 'fireman' but he doesn't really know. I hope to be of service to other people. What that means has to be indefinite."

Pittsburgh ABA Cagers Get Hawkins

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh entry of the new American Basketball Association announced yesterday the signing of Connie Hawkins, basketball's forgotten man, for the 1967-68 season.

Hawkins, 24, 6-foot-8, has been playing for various independent teams, including the Harlem Globetrotters, since the American Basketball League folded during its second season in 1963.

Hawkins played for the Pittsburgh Rens in the defunct league, earning most valuable player honors in his rookie season.

He attended the University of Iowa after a standout career at Boys High in New York City, but withdrew during his first year at Iowa for scholastic and financial reasons.

Two weeks after Hawkins dropped out of Iowa, New York District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said in breaking the city's 1961 basketball scandals that Hawkins, while still a high school pupil, had been paid $210 to introduce gamblers to basketball players.

Hawkins tried unsuccessfully to get in the National Basketball Association, and in 1966 filed suit against the league, accusing it of blacklisting him.

Gabe Rubin, president and general manager of the new Pittsburgh entry, said at a news conference announcing the signing, "In Hawkins, I believe we have one of the real superstars of the league. We're headed in the right direction now."

Hawkins was the first man signed by Pittsburgh, one of 10 teams in the new league.

Last Ditch Appeal by Cassius Rejected, Faces Induction This Morning

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — "I am ready to die for my religion," heavyweight champion Cassius Clay said yesterday after a U.S. District Court denied his appeal that the government be restrained from taking criminal action if he refuses military service.

Denial of a temporary injunction plea — the last legal action before Clay's scheduled action this morning — was made by U.S. Dist. Judge Allen B. Han-may after a 3½ hour hearing before a packed courtroom.

Clay, arguing he is a practicing Black Muslim minister under the name of Muhammad Ali, thus will be forced to go before authorities on Friday.

If he declines to take the one-step forward — as he insists he will decline — he faces a penalty of $10,000 fine or five years in prison, or both. Prison is the usual procedure.

Clay, whose pleas against the draft have been turned down twice by the U.S. Supreme Court, spent close to an hour on the stand, telling of his conversion to the Muslim religion and his activities as a preacher of the faith.

"I am going to die a Muslim," he insisted. "They don't think I'm serious. I will show them that I am."

Clay said there was nothing in his religion to prevent his appearing at the induction ceremonies, undergoing the physical and mental formalities and filling out the usual forms.

"But when I step forward, symbolizing I am in the Army, that is in conflict to my Muslim faith. I would be a hypocrite if I did it. I will go to jail first."

The heavyweight champion said he expected to be stripped of his championship and probably denied opportunities to continue his fighting career.

"But I will continue preaching my faith in prison," he said. "Prisons have Muslims."

Clay's attorney, Hayden Covington of New York and Quin-nean Hodges of Houston went before Judge Hanna, a 75-year-old veteran of the bench, with an appeal that the government be restrained from taking criminal action against their client when he refused to accept military service.

They argued that Clay — or Muhammad Ali — was exempt as a practicing minister and that he had been discriminated against because no Negroes were on the original Houston draft board and the Houston board of appeal which heard his case.

Covington, a craggy-faced, white-haired veteran lawyer, announced that he would refile immediately his law suit challenging the entire structure of the national selective service system.

"Clay is no different than a congressman," Covington said. "A congressman is exempt from the draft. Under the law, so are ministers. Our argument is that Clay is being discriminated against because of his religion."

"We have just lost another round. This is just the 12th round. We have three more to go."

Clay, dapper in a shiny blue suit with blue tie and shirt, appeared at the court house an hour early and found a large delegation of supporters on hand.

"We are behind you — we'll be out there tomorrow to demonstrate," a Negro girl, apparently a student, told the champion. "Busloads are coming from all over the country to back me up," the champion said.

"I don't want any demonstrations. I don't want you all to suffer just because I am suffering."

The champion said that he had already lost $5 million because of his religious beliefs and expected his faith to cost him $10 million more before he is through.

Under questioning of Covington, he told how he was converted to the Islam faith and how he practices his religion what he said was 90 per cent of the time he is not training for a big fight.

He said he devoted about 95 hours a week to preaching and giving testimony — in prisons, schools, mosques and on street corners.

He told the court that he first was introduced to Black Muslimism in 1961, the year after he won an Olympic gold medal as light heavyweight champion in Rome, when he was accosted on the street by a Muslim brother.

"We call them fishermen," he said. He said he studied the Koran, the Islam Bible, and listened to teachers of the faith for three years before he became converted completely just prior to his fight with Sonny Liston in Miami in 1964 when he won the championship.

"I learned who God is, who the devil is, where heaven is, and where hell is," he said. "I learned that Elijah Muhammad, our leader, had been visited by Allah in Detroit back in 1930."

"I learned that the Negroes were a people without a name. If you see a man named Khrushchev, you know he is Russian. If he is Goldberg, he is Jewish. If he is White Flower, he is Indian. But a Negro has no name."

"Negro comes from the word Nekra, which means 'dead.' The Negro people are dead spiritually and economically. That is a situation I want to change."

Clay's trainer, Drew (Bondi) Brown of New York, and a Houston Muslim Minister, a-mond Watlington, were put on the stand to testify to the champion's religious activities.

The induction ceremonies are scheduled at 9 a.m. today. Both his attorneys are scheduled to be with him.

New Laker Coach Named Officially

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Basketball Coach Willem H. (Bill) van Breda Kolff, who guided Princeton for five successful seasons officially became the coach of the Los Angeles Lakers yesterday.

He takes over the National Basketball Association team under a three-year contract. Confirming reports that leaked out all over the nation Wednesday, Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Lakers, presented the new coach at a packed news conference.

At the same time, Cooke confirmed that Fred Schaus, head coach for all of the seven years the Lakers have been in Los Angeles, has been named general manager.

Schaus succeeds Lou Mohs, whom Cooke named yesterday as executive vice president of his varied sports enterprises here — the Lakers, the new Kings of the National Hockey League and Wolves of the new United Soccer Association.

Each of the three appointees expressed complete satisfaction with his new duties.

The 44-year-old van Breda Kolff said he had been very happy in his 16 years as a college coach, adding that the only professional job he would ever have, considered was the Laker position.

The Princeton coach came here about two weeks ago, and "Mr. Cooke sold me."

Everyone laughed and van Breda Kolff added, "He can sell ice to Eskimos."

Another Try Asks Terrell

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Terrell said yesterday he hopes Cassius Clay reconsiders his stated plans and takes the oath of induction "so I can fight him again."

"My left eye is well again and my doctors have said I can fight again immediately," said the 28-year-old, 6-foot-6 heavyweight contender in an interview with The Associated Press.

"I still maintain that Clay fouled me and injured my eye in our fight," said Terrell. "I feel more confident than ever that I can beat him and I hope I can get the chance."

"I don't know what's going to happen to him or what will happen to the heavyweight championship after Friday. However, as the most recent holder of that title I want to go on record with all official bodies that I am fit and available to clear up any doubts."

Terrell, recognized as champion by the World Boxing Association at the time, was beaten in 15 rounds by Clay at Houston, Tex., last Feb. 6.

Three days after the fight Terrell underwent an operation on his left eyeball to cure an injury that was causing double vision.

Clay is scheduled to appear for induction into the Army at Houston Friday. He has said he will not enter the Army. One of Clay's exemption claims is that he is a full-time Black Muslim minister.

"I can't figure out what Clay's objections are," said Terrell. "Is he a minister or is he a fighter? He was turned down on his claim that he is a minister. This is understandable because he is a fighter."

"No one man is more important than another whether he is the heavyweight champion or a shoeshine boy."

A bachelor, Terrell still has his original 1-X draft classification for being too tall for service.

He said he still feels bitter towards Clay who called him "an Uncle Tom." Terrell referred to the champion as Cassius Clay and refused to call him Muhammad Ali, the Black Muslim name Clay prefers.

In their fight, Clay, between punches, repeatedly asked Terrell "what's my name?"

A singer and guitar player, Terrell has been busy touring with his combination and making records.

He said he would hold a three-round boxing drill in New York May 9 "to demonstrate my complete physical fitness."

McDOWELL PACES TRIBE TO TRIUMPH

Jesse Gonder's Hit Leads Pirates to Win over Phils

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jesse Gonder lined a tie-breaking single to left field in the eighth inning last night, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-4 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Gonder's single scored Bill Mazeroski, who had reached base on an error by Phil Linz and moved to second when reliever Dick Hall hit Gene Alley. The Pirates tied the score 4-4 in the seventh inning when Philie starter Larry Jackson fired a wild pitch past catcher Bob Uecker with the bases loaded. George Spriggs scored and Matty Alou came around when Uecker threw past Jackson covering the plate.

The Phillies had taken a 4-2 lead in the top of the seventh on singles by Jackson and Sutherland. Richie Allen's run-scoring double and a force out.

Uecker's two-run single with the bases loaded in the sixth had tied the game for Philadelphia after Pittsburgh took an early 2-0 lead on Donn Clendenon's home run in the second and Alley's run-scoring hit in the fourth.

Indians-Twins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Willie Smith's pinch double broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning and lifted Cleveland to a 5-4 decision over Minnesota last night.

Gus Gil doubled with one out in the eighth against Al Worthington, and Leon Wagner was purposely walked. After Larry Brown forced Wagner at second, Smith batted for Sam McDowell and doubled down the left field line, scoring Gil.

McDowell, who struck out 12, including 10 over the first five innings, had an early 4-0 lead before Minnesota came back.

Cleveland jumped in front with a run in the second and three more in the fifth. Zoilo Versalles' throwing error allowed one of the runs to score in the fifth and a bases-loaded walk forced in another.

Bob Allison put Minnesota back in the game with a three-run homer in the sixth. He connected following walks to Andy Kosco and Harmon Killebrew.

The Twins tied it in the seventh on Cesar Tovar's single and a double by Rich Rollins.

Reds-Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mel Queen, an outfielder-turned-pitcher won his third game of the season yesterday as Cincinnati defeated San Francisco 3-2.

Deron Johnson walloped a two-run homer in the fifth inning after Gaylord Perry, the Giants' starter had sailed through four hitless innings.

Don Pavletich opened the fifth with a single and Johnson followed with his sixth homer of the season.

Singles by Tommy Harper, Art Shamsky and Vada Pinson produced Cincinnati's final run in the eighth.

Willie McCovey tagged a solo homer in the seventh inning, only the Giants' third hit. But after Queen walked pinch hitter Norm Siebern opening the eighth, Ted Abernathy came on and finished up after allowing the Giants' second run.

Cubs-Mets

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Ferguson Jenkins limited New York to three hits and won his third game of the season yesterday as the Chicago Cubs blanked the Mets 3-0.

Jenkins struck out the first four batters he faced and finished with 10 strikeouts and four bases on balls.

The Cubs broke a scoreless tie in the sixth with a pair of runs off Jack Fisher, who lost his second game in three starts.

Doubles by Glenn Beckert and Ron Santo and a single by Lee Thomas were the key hits in the Chicago rally. Santo's hit snapped an 0-for-17 slump for the veteran third baseman.

Astros-Cardinals

HOUSTON (AP) — Joe Morgan unloaded a three-run triple, highlighting a five-run seventh inning that powered Houston to a 6-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night.

Golf League Meets Tonight

Committees of the Industrial Golf League will hold its final pre-season meeting tonight at 7:30 at Jackson Valley Country Club. The league opens on Tuesday, May 2, and all committee members are urged to be present tonight.

Lou Johnson Fractures Ankle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers lost veteran outfielder Lou Johnson for 10 to 12 weeks when he fractured his left ankle sliding home in a game against Atlanta last night.

Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzze) Bavasi said there is not one in the Los Angeles farm system who could replace Johnson. "It will be up to Bob Bailey, Al Ferrara, Jim Hickman and Wes Parker to take up the slack," said Bavasi. "They're better outfielders than we have in the minors."

Cardinals last night and broke the Astros' 10-game losing streak.

Morgan, whose double in the fifth inning broke an 0 for 24 slump, connected off Hal Woodeshick, who relieved loser Bob Gibson after hits by John Batesman and Ron Brand and a walk loaded the bases with none out.

Eddie Mathews doubled home another run and Sonny Jackson's sacrifice fly scored the decisive marker.

The Cardinals took a 2-0 lead on successive triples by Mike Shannon and Tim McCarver and Bobby Tolan's single in the fourth. St. Louis added two more runs in the eighth off reliever Dick Farrell.

The Astros added another run in the eighth on a double by Ron Davis, a hit batsman, a force out and Jackson's infield hit.

Larry Dierker, who left for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, picked up the victory for Houston.

Montreal Tops Toronto, Evens Cup Series 2-2

TORONTO (AP) — Jean Beliveau and Ralph Backstrom fired two goals each last night as the Montreal Canadiens ripped Toronto 6-2 and evened their best-of-7 Stanley Cup final series at two games apiece.

The series shifts to Montreal for the fifth game Saturday and returns to Toronto for Game No.

6 next Tuesday.

Beliveau and Backstrom gave the Canadiens a quick 2-0 lead, scoring within 43 seconds of each other midway through the first period. Backstrom scored on a backhander, beating Terry Sawchuk from close in, and Beliveau's goal came when his pass struck Sawchuk's leg and bounced into the Toronto net.

Sawchuk, the star of Toronto's semifinal victory over Chicago, replaced Johnny Bower in the Leafs' net after Bower was injured in the pregame warmup. Bower had led the Leafs to two straight victories over the Canadiens.

Mike Walton scored Toronto's first goal at 2:09 of the second period but Henri Richard got that one back 17 seconds later on a 20-foot unassisted goal that made it 3-1.

Tim Horton's blueline screened shot whisked past Montreal's rookie goalie, Rogatien Vachon, at 12:16, but Beliveau restored the Canadiens' two-goal edge 1:25 later with his second goal of the night.

Then Backstrom scored his second, breaking into the clear and beating Sawchuk with a backhander at 15:53.

Montreal's Jim Roberts scored the only goal of the third period with Richard assisting at 15:17.

JVCC Ladies Hold Dinner

The Jackson Valley Country Club's Women's Golf Association held its annual spring dinner at the Club last night with 75 women in attendance.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Vera Samuelson. By-laws were read and discussed by vice-president Neva Jenkinson. A treasurer's report and minutes of the fall meeting was read by Martha Anderson.

There was a question and answer period conducted by the new pro at JVCC, Lee Rettberg.

Centerpieces were awarded as door prizes to those lucky enough to be holding a winning ticket.

Bibi McDade, the handicap chairman, discussed how the handicaps would be determined this year.

The ringler board was explained by Min Shinshala.

Progress of current ticket sales on the hand toiled wallets, the club's project for the year, was given by Gayle McCabe.

Alda Mathis was chairman for the dinner. She and her committee did a fine job according to spokesmen for the ladies.

President Samuelson said that this was a very successful start to the 1967 women's golf league at Jackson Valley Country Club.

LASSIES ELECT OFFICERS

The Riverside Lassies bowling league elected a slate of officers for the upcoming year at a recent meeting. Seated is the new secretary, Joyce Summers. Standing from the left are Barbara Campbell, treasurer, Bonnie Jones, president and Nancy Wert, vice-president.

Pitchers Like Willies; They're Not Hitting

NEW YORK (AP) — What's been happening to Messrs. Mays of San Francisco and Stargell of Pittsburgh is enough to give their managers the willies.

Willie Mays, 35-year-old star Giants' outfielder and usually a strong starter, is batting only .231 with six hits in 26 times at bat, one homer and a mere three runs latted in. He has career marks of .312 in batting and 543 in homers, the latter

Willie Stargell is hitting .114 with four hits in 35 tries, two homers and seven RBI. Last season, the lefty slugger was sixth in the NL in batting with .315 and slammed 33 homers while accumulating 102 runs batted in.

But Mays and Stargell are not the only big league ballplayers seeking to shake the early-season batting blues. Tony Oliva, Harmon Killebrew, Jim Ray Hart, Ron Santo and Mickey Mantle are among the others.

Twice the American League batting king and last season the runner-up to Baltimore's Frank Robinson, Oliva is down at .229 this year. He has one homer, but would have had two except that he passed a baserunner between first and second base after hammering a fair drive into the stands last Friday night. The Minnesota outfielder was credited with only a single and one RBI.

Killebrew, another normally hard-hitting Twin, is batting .200 with one homer and four runs batted in. He had 39 homers, 110 RBI and a .281 batting mark last season.

Hart of San Francisco and Santo of the Chicago Cubs, both third basemen, can't seem to get to first base. The Yankees' Mantle, a new first baseman, can't seem to get to second.

Hart is hitting .156 with seven safeties and Santo a mere .086 with three hits in 35 attempts. Mantle, an outfielder until this year, has five hits, all singles. He's batting .192.

Boog Powell, who had 34 homers in 1966, has none this season for Baltimore. George Scott, the Boston first baseman who was tearing up the AL at this time a year ago, is batting .214 and Joe Foy, the Red Sox' third baseman, has two hits in 27 at bats for an .074 mark.

Northwest To Hold Prize Day

Northwest Savings Company will sponsor a day at the Blueberry Hill Golf Club on Wednesday, May 3.

Northwest will provide prizes for a Calloway Handicap Tournament. There will also be door prizes and refreshments on the course. To be eligible for the prizes, you must play in the tournament and have a dinner ticket.

The dinner tickets cost $2 per person and are limited to the first 100 people interested. They are on sale at Blueberry Hill and from the following: Jerry Waxman, Lou Carlson, Lou Vesico, Jim Scalise, Ray Johnson and George Eberhardt.

The next meeting of the Blueberry Hill membership golf league will be at the Club at 7:30 p.m. on May 1. A sign up list is posted on the bulletin board for those members interested in playing in the league. Fifty-six have signed up so far and a few more are desired. The starting date for play will be decided on Monday.

AL STEPHENS Wins Honor At Riverside

Al Stephens won the title of Bowler of the Year at Riverside Lanes recently when he won a roll off of all the monthly 600 Club winners.

Stephens came through with games of 223 and 232 following a shaky start. He edged runner-up John Haden by 39 pins over the six game stretch.

Others who competed were Paul Johnston, Tom Graziano, Bob Chase, Arv Carlson and Dean Whittaker.

This is the second time that Stephens has won the crown. His first title was won in the 1964-65 season.

Market Resumes Rise With Rally

Feb. 9, 1966. The New York Times combined average of 50 industrial and railroad stocks rose 3.09 points to 530.19. The American Stock Exchange index of stock prices rose 15 cents to $18.18. Of the 908 issues traded 390 moved higher and 289 lost ground. Turnover was 4,147,780 shares compared with 4,234,125 Wednesday. On the Over-the-Counter market prices were up and trading was very active. On the big board, as usual, the largest gains were posted by issues in the glamour group. L.B.M. soared 17 1/2 to 49 1/2; Bell & Howell 7 1/4 to 74; Teledyne 6 1/2 to 168 1/2; Motorola 5 1/2 to 122 1/2; Control Data 4 1/4 to 83 1/2 and Polaroid 3 1/4 to 213 1/4. The strong performance of General Motors, despite its report Wednesday that first-quarter earnings fell 34 per cent below a year ago, also lent strength to the general list. G.M. traded as high as 85 and closed at 84 1/4, up 1/2 on turnover of 73,400 shares. A mid-afternoon report that auto makers would increase second-quarter production schedules by about 80,000 cars aided other auto stocks. General Development, the most-active stock with trades of 109,300 shares jumped 1 1/4 to 11. The Florida real estate development company reported yesterday that in its March quarter earnings jumped to 18 cents from 12 cents in the 1966 period. City Investing, which owns a large block of General Development shares, spurted 6 1/2 to 76 1/2. Other lower priced issues that placed on the most-active list included American Machine & Foundry, up 1 1/4 to 19 1/2; Arlans Department Stores, up 1 1/4 to 17 1/2; Pan American Sulphur up 1 to 22 1/2, and Vornado, up 1 to 23 1/2. McDonnell, the second most-active stock, added 2 1/2 to 41 1/2, while Douglas, its proposed merger partner, jumped 5 1/2 to 64 1/2. Ling-Temco-Vought, another aerospace and electronics concern, spurted 4 1/2 to 134.

Harold T. Bright

Bright Awarded Fellowship

Harold T. Bright of the Parts Division of Sylvania Electric Products Inc. has been awarded an Alfred P. Sloan Fellowship at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, according to an announcement by Dean William F. Pounds of the Alfred P. Sloan School of Management in Cambridge, Mass.

Bright was one of 45 Fellows chosen from a group of managers whose companies nominated them for admission to the program to accelerate their development into positions of future executive responsibility.

Bright will begin a year of study in June which consists of a program of special courses supplemented by field visits and seminars and meetings with leaders in business and government in the United States and abroad. Sloan Fellowships lead to a master of science degree. The Sylvania executive, a graduate of Kent State University, joined Sylvania in 1951 as an accountant. In 1956, he became Production Control Supervisor in the Parts Division wire plant here and a year later was named Manufacturing Superintendent.

In 1964, he was appointed Manager of the wireplant which produces fine wire and ribbon for the electrical, electronic and aircraft industries. Bright resides in North Warren.

Sales Area Betterment Program Is Answer to Timberland Management

What happens to a timberland area after the trees are cut down for shipment to market? It becomes the object of a program called Sale Area Betterment, the U. S. Forest Service's project to develop land in the national forests, including Allegheny National Forest. The program is a large-sized business in itself. For instance, there are $20,000 contracts being offered for Sale Area Betterment projects in the Sheffield district. The value of the average contract is $1,000, with all contracts posted in the Post Offices and at District Ranger Station in Sheffield. Copies are available at the forest supervisor's office in the Warren Post Office.

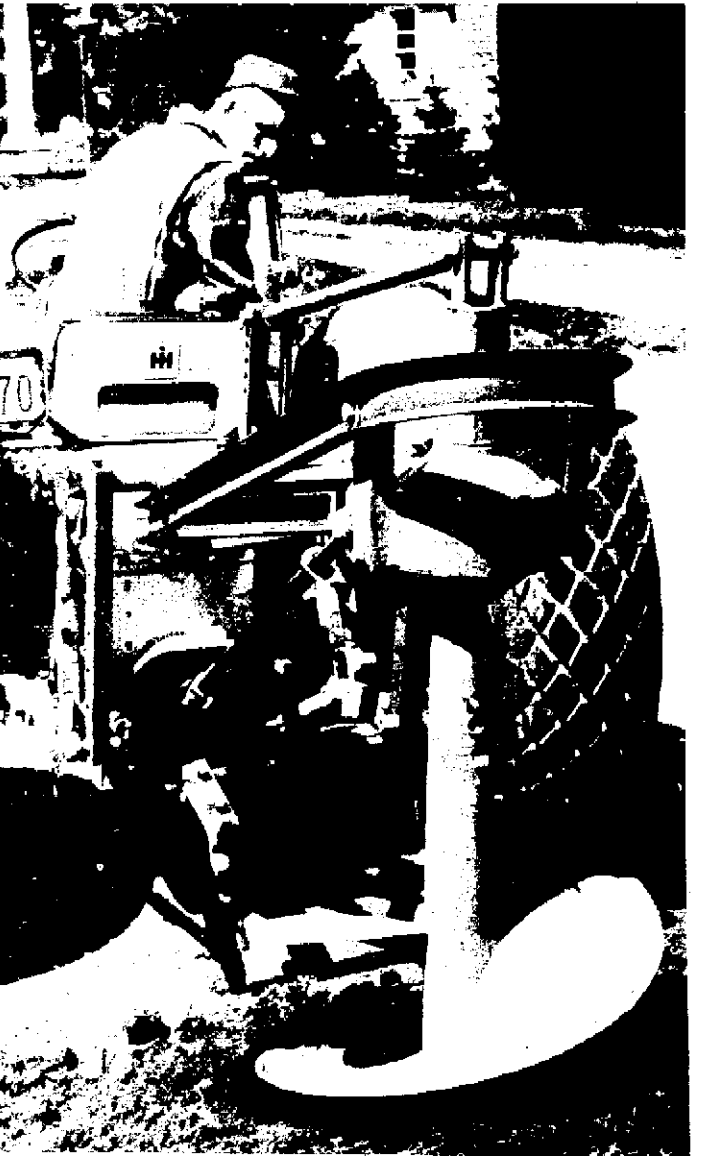

Sale Area Betterment is the improvement of a timber sale area after the removal of merchantable lumber. Under even-aged management, as practiced in the local forests, clear-cuts from 5 to 50 acres are made in mature stands of timber. In these clear-cut areas, trees which have no commercial value are left standing to be felled later in the Sale Area Betterment program. In the past, the work has been done by Forest Service crews. Experience has shown, however, that the work can be done more economically by contracting it. The contractor cuts down all material left standing in clear-cut areas after a sale has been completed. This results in many benefits, the Forest Service says. First, the felling of all standing trees assures sufficient light for the young seedlings to grow and replace trees that have been removed. Secondly, the felling of live trees provides browse from the tops within reach of hungry deer and creates cover for grouse, rabbits, turkeys, and deer. Thirdly, the felled trees provide some protection for the young seedlings from over-browsing by deer.

The contracting of this Sale Area Betterment work provides full, or part-time employment for local residents. It enables the Forest Service to meet its goals, and it puts dollars into the local economy.

THREE MAJOR PROJECTS UNDERWAY

When It Rains, It Pours, Parks Department Learns

Everything happens at once to the Parks Department of Warren borough. The Parks Department staff of six is facing three major projects which will command most of their time in the next two weeks. The first is a repair job on the circle in the Crescent Park, where sidewalks must be replaced and flowers planted. Another is planting street trees. And last, but far from least, is preparing for the spring play-according to Parks Superintendent Jim Reier, are in bad condition. The steps leading down to the river's edge were replaced last year. The tree-planting project on the borough's streets has a new time-saving innovation this year. Department personnel are using a tractor mounted with a 24-inch auger to drill the holes for the trees. The work is being conducted throughout the borough.

The biggest problem right now with the playgrounds is grass, Reier said.

"There's 135 acres of it and it's growing fast," Reier said. "It's soft and muddy and poses a little problem." He said, though, that the eight playgrounds in the borough should be in shape for the May 8 opening of the spring playground season.

The eight playgrounds in the borough are DeFrees, Beaty, Crescent, Lay, War Memorial, Beech Street, Carbon Memorial, and Mulberry.

Airman Lyon Is Promoted

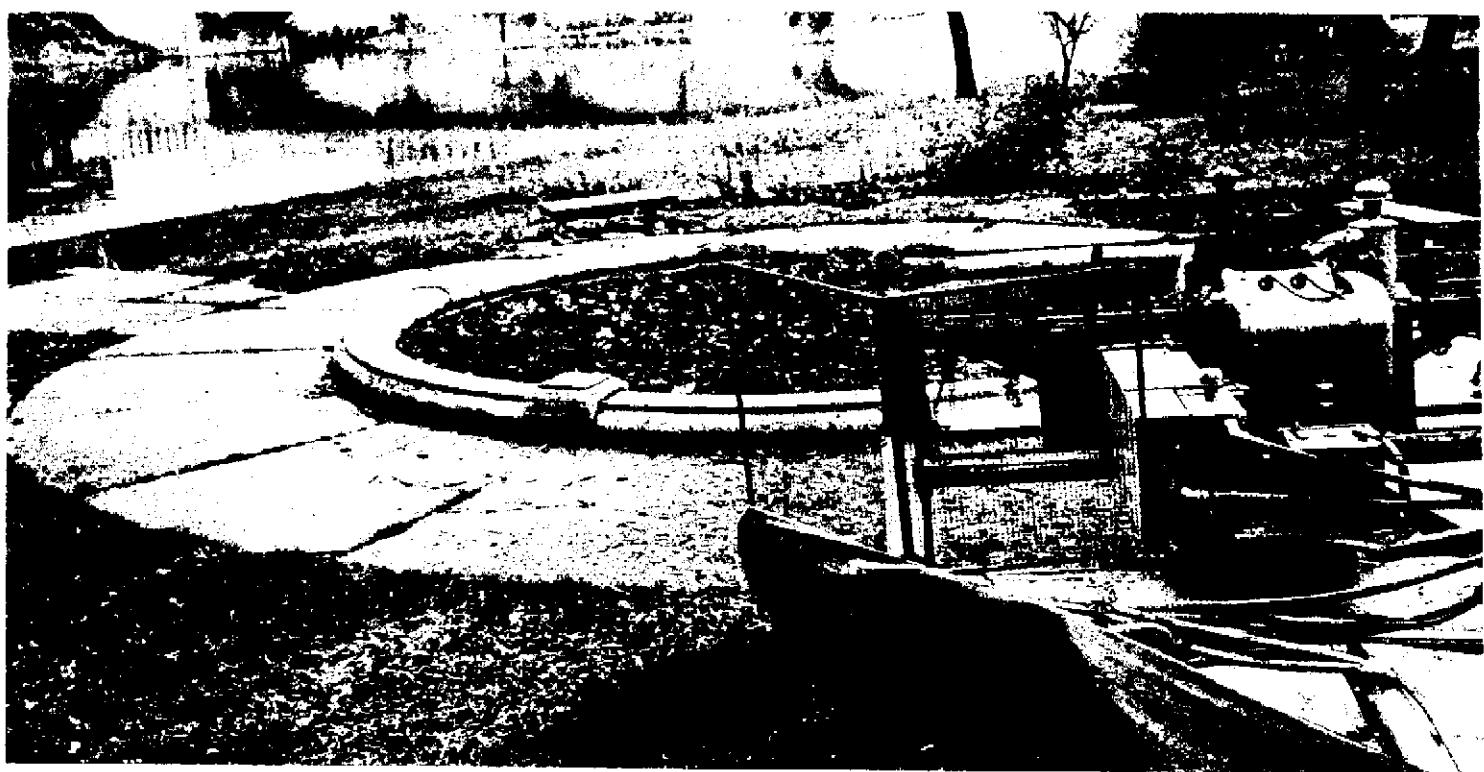

Charles E. Lyon Jr. AF-127-46030, has been promoted to the rank of Airman first class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lyon Sr., 6 Ellison St., Clarendon.

Since completing training courses in aircraft mechanics at Shepherd Air Force Base in Texas, Lyon has been stationed at Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, New Mexico. He services the big Air Force jet planes.

Lyon was graduated from Warren Area High School with the Class of 1964.

Meadville Rejects Fluoridation Plans

MEADVILLE — The fight to add fluorides to Meadville's water ended this week when City Council voted against it 3-2. The vote, which had been 3-2 in favor of fluoridation, came after the city solicitor, John V. Pepicelli, advised council against the measure until the Legislature changes the Pennsylvania Adulterated or Misbranded Food statutes or until the Pennsylvania high courts squarely rule on the question of fluoridation.

TRADE GOLDFISH POND FOR BED OF ROSES This is the area in Crescent Park where the Parks Department will replace the 55-year-old goldfish pond with a bed of roses. Shrubbery around the area, 30 years old by conservative estimates, will be replaced by annual flowers for this summer and by evergreen trees next fall. The area has been dilapidated for years. The Parks Department began work on the cleanup job last summer. (Photo by Mahan)

County Commissioners D. H. Lay and Lewis L. Crippen yesterday morning signed the agreement and ordinance for this county's place on the Bradford Regional Airport Authority.

The move also commits the county to a $51,000 share in the Bradford Regional Airport at Mt. Alton in McKean County, to be paid over a five-year period. The county has budgeted $10,000 to be paid in September of this year.

The commissioners emphasized that no borrowing will be necessary in 1967 since tax receipts will be available to take care of the commitment.

During the next four years it is possible that borrowing will finance the project—either by the authority upon majority vote of the members or by the individual counties. In this event, there will be interest to pay which would increase the amount of financial participation.

Crippen noted also that in the event other counties, such as Cattaraugus in New York State, joined the Authority, the individual county's share could be less.

The expansion at the airport will be financed by $402,455 in federal funds; $201,227.50 state aid and $201,227.50 area.

The City of Bradford has agreed to turn the airport over to the Authority with several stipulations. The facility will revert to the City of Bradford if it ceases to have interstate commercial airline service; if the Authority restricts the number of commercial airlines that can operate the port and if the word or name "Bradford" is not retained as the first word in the title of the airport.

County financial shares are Cameron, 4.5 per cent; Elk, 23 per cent; McKean, 47 per cent and Warren, 25.5 per cent.

Under the terms of the agreement a majority vote of its total membership (nine) will be necessary for the authority to take any action. By-laws provide for an executive committee to act for the Authority in certain matters.

If any county does not desire to accept the majority vote of the Authority and obligate itself in accordance with the percentages established for future expenditures, that county, by majority vote of the others, can be required to withdraw legally and forfeit all interest. According to Lay and Crippen, if a future board of commissioners should negate the action taken yesterday, any funds appropriated by Warren County would be "down the drain."

Two Men Plead Guilty, Request Quick Sentence

Two men appearing before Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. for open court arraignment yesterday afternoon entered guilty pleas and requested immediate sentencing.

Roger W. Allen, of RD 2, Bonliwood, Jamestown, N.Y., charged with driving during suspension, was ordered to pay $100 fine, costs and spend three days in jail, with credit for one day served.

John Long, 674 Grant st., Franklin, charged with worthless checks was given 30 days to make restitution and pay costs. Long had already served 11 days in jail. Venango County has a detainer for the Franklin man on the same charge.

Bruce M. Campbell, 222 S. Main st., Clarendon, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and will appear for sentencing on May 26.

Also sentenced yesterday for driving under the influence was Richard A. Wilson, of 264 Buchanan st. Wilson entered a plea of nolo contendere and waived taking of testimony. He was ordered to pay $120 fine, costs and serve three days in jail with credit for one day served. Five persons are scheduled to be sentenced at 10 a.m. today.

College Hosts Bands

EDINBORO — High school bands from Falconer, N. Y., and Erie will be on hand today for the Edinboro State College's third annual State Band Festival and clinic. The festival starts at 1:30 p.m. and concludes at 8 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium with a jazz concert by the college band.

Clifton Is 'Realtor'

Benjamin G. Clifton, owner of Ben G. Clifton Agency dealing in real estate, has been elected to membership in the Pennsylvania Realtors Association. Clifton's membership allows him to use the term "realtor."

Food Bids Let

Warren State Hospital has announced bids for food in May, totaling $20,647.57. Companies receiving contracts were from Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Williamsport, New Bethlehem, and Erie. The foods were poultry, dairy products, meats, and fish.

Bank Remodels Building

Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company yesterday announced a major complete remodeling program of the main banking room of the Warren office will begin Monday, May 1, 1967. "We hope the project will give the bank a modern new look," officials say.

According to vice president Paul Harrington, this is the first major reconstruction program since the former Warren Bank and Trust Company's eight-story addition was built about 1927, at which time he was associated with the bank.

More recently a complete new lighting system was installed and lounge rooms for employees were created in the basement. The project will include a new canopy over the main entrance to the bank building.

The new construction will be in two stages. One portion will be sealed off, and banking service will be conducted in the upper level. When that section is complete, the operation will be reversed, with the upper level sealed off and construction continued in that area. All business will continue as usual.

In the new completely redesigned bank, there will be included private offices and conference rooms, which have never before been provided. Entirely new counters and other facilities will be installed on the main banking floor.

Air conditioning and an up-to-the-minute new light system are also a part of the plan.

One official indicates that, since the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company has always kept up-to-date in its service, it intends to keep ahead in its facilities as well.

Marine Fined In Malicious Mischief Case

An 18-year-old U.S. Marine, home on leave, was charged with malicious mischief by Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty.

Arrested yesterday was Herbert Proctor, of RD 2, Sugar Grove. Proctor appeared before Peace Justice Raymond P. Gilmore, pleaded guilty and was released after paying $20 in restitution and costs.

Proctor's apprehension stemmed from an incident on Friday, April 21, when a bus, operated by Warren City Lines, was traveling between Tiona and Warren to the Warren Roll-Arena.

Hegerty said the bus driver experienced some trouble with a group of teenagers enroute to Warren and on the way back. After the bus was emptied, the operator checked the interior and found three seats cut with a knife.

The damage was reported to the sheriff's office Monday by the bus company owner and an investigation started. Hegerty stated he learned Proctor was a suspect and filed the malicious mischief charge with Gilmore who issued a warrant for the Marine's arrest.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

I'm an ex-officio member of the Procrastinators Club of America, so naturally I haven't gotten around to celebrating National Newspaper Week until now.

But I want you to consider what goes into the 24-or-so pages you get every day.

It's been said numerous times that the newspaper business — known variously as the Press, the Fourth Estate, Journalism, and the Racket — is a bit too high-handed, a little prone to ride roughshod over any and all opposition. That, of course, may be quite true. At the same time, it is said that newspaper people tend to be apathetic, idiotic, ignorant, and irresponsible. That, too, may be true in many instances in this large land of ours. But that isn't the key to the whole thing. There's a lot of work behind a newspaper, both for the people who produce it and the people who make the news that goes into it. There is hardly any facet of our lives that is not affected by newspapers in some way.

Proofreaders, typists, Linotype operators, composition workers, engravers, photographers, reporters, editors, business clerks, advertising people, the circulation staff — the list of people who work to produce the daily newspaper is endless. But they get paid for it, and thus deserve to remain largely unsung heroes. The real benefactor: the lowly tree, which did nothing to deserve becoming a garbage-wrapper than just sit in a forest and grow for several decades. I sometimes wish I were that tree. It sounds like such an uncomplicated way to be productive in the trade.

LITTLE BACH SOCIETY members offered the following piano selections at their final meeting for this season at the Woman's Club: Nancy Schwartz, Album by Grieg; Liz Eaton, Simple Confession by Toney; Dorothy Ball, Northern Lights by Toresen; Jeanne Newmaker, Sylphide by Grieg; Patty Barlight, Waltz by Grieg; Laurie Tranter, Elfin Dance by Grieg; Jody Bunk, Elfin Dance by Jensen. Officers for this society of junior musicians are President, Kathy Baker; secretary, Elisa Tranter and program chairman-publicity manager, Sally Calderwood.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT AT FIRST LUTHERAN tomorrow night when the League of Committed Adult Lutherans is sponsoring a Square Dance with music by Mrs. Dorothy Engstrom and her orchestra. The event will take place in Fellowship Hall at 8 o'clock. Members of St. John's Lutheran Church have been invited as guests. Singles or couples, young and old are to come dressed for the occasion and prepared to "swing your partner".

MINIATURES: The Pre-School Child Study Group is reminded of the dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Hotel Jamestown at 7:30 o'clock.

WGH Alumni will hold its regular meeting on Monday at 8 p. m. in the social rooms at Warren County Dairy on Lookout street. Tomorrow the District Youth meeting of Pilgrim Holiness Church will start at 10:15 at the West Indies Campground in Homer City, Penna. Bring a picnic lunch and plan to spend the day.

WGH Sewing Group is meeting on Thursday of next week at 1 o'clock for a work session in the hospital conference room. Members are asked to make special note of the change in day — just for this once.

Mrs. Marge Finlan of Youngsville has returned to her home after spending the winter in Orlando, Florida. She reports having sold her home there and purchased a mobile home in Mo Ho Mobile Park in Orlando, located on the shores of Lake Catherine, and said that the park is truly a beauty spot.

Ann Landers
Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I decided a few weeks ago that if I received one more ridiculous thank-you note I would write to you. Today is the day. It arrived in this morning's mail. Here it is:
"I am just a teeny weeny baby so of course I can't write yet but my mommie is writing for me. She says the little dress you sent is the prettiest one in my wardrobe. I think it is, too. I just love pink. I hope you will come and see how nice I look in my pretty pink dress. But please call before you come because I sleep quite a lot and I want to be up from my nap when you come to see me. Love, — Linda Sue."

DEAR JASON: Personally I don't care for cutesey, precious thank-you notes but at least you received an expression of appreciation. Every week I get dozens of letters from people who wonder why their wedding gifts, graduation gifts, baby gifts, Christmas, Easter and birthday gifts are not even acknowledged.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Frequently I read in your column complaints from pseudo-masculine husbands who think housework is for sissies.
I boil when I think of the bums whose wives hold down jobs, run homes and raise families, while they put in an eight-hour day and then hide behind the newspaper or TV.
I am proud to say I share the household duties with my wife and do everything I can to help, including ironing. I have not developed any mammary glands or other feminine characteristics. Nobody has ever called me a pantywaist, at least not to my face. Fathers should not worry about their sons being sissies if they do housework. They should be concerned with raising young men who can help their wives without feeling that their masculinity is being threatened. — CHAMPAIGN, ILL.

DEAR CHAMP: Every working wife in the U.S.A. will love you for your stand. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I almost croaked when I read the letter from the 13-year-old girl who said she had been in love three times. She signed herself: "This Time It's Real."
I am 15 and I know the difference between a crush and infatuation. Any girl who is in love with her English teacher one week and the paper boy the next week has got to be wingy. Then she talks about feeling dizzy and not being able to eat. Maybe the poor kid has the flu.
I hope the girl clipped out that silly column and that she will read it again when she is 18. She'll have a good laugh. Sign me — I CAN WAIT

DEAR ICW: You have a smart head on those 15-year-old shoulders. Young kids who think they are in love, then try to live the past as they see it portrayed in the movies, end up sad and sorry. Congratulations on your good sense.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect from Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

District Assembly Held At St. Paul's Lutheran Church

Two hundred and thirty women and men were in attendance at the fourth annual district assembly of the Warren-McKean District No. 2 of the Western Pennsylvania-South Virginia Synod, Lutheran Church in America, held at St. Paul's Church Sunday. Registration began at 1:30 in the Parish House where various displays were on exhibit.

The theme was "God Working Through Us", based on the manifesto of Martin Luther, honoring the 450th anniversary of the Reformation. Principal speaker was Mrs. Edmund Price of Pittsburgh, LCW national president of the General Assembly. Her theme "The Challenge" told of Africa and was illustrated with slides.

Mrs. Wilton Bergstrand, well known in the former Augustana Church, who with her husband was a youth director on the national level, presented the devotionals "In Meditation" using original writings and quotations, with accompanying music on the marimba and the auto-harp.

The LCW president of Western Pennsylvania-South Virginia Synod, Mrs. Carl Eliason of Bethany Church, Sheffield, conducted a discussion on "One Gift" with three other participants, Mrs. Theodore of Mt. Jewett, Mrs. Kenneth Soderquist of Port Allegany and Mrs. Carl Benson of Sheffield.

A special memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Carl Lundahl with Mrs. Carl Nelson, Mrs. Everett Borg participating. All from St. Paul's Church. Mrs. Frank Seely was the usher, with all local presidents in a procession; a tryptich, made by Ludlow men, formed the altar background. Memorial flowers were given in memory of all district deceased members by St. Paul's LCW.

Mrs. Enoch Nelson conducted a panel "In Outreach To The Community" with the following panelists: Mrs. George Larson, Bradford; Mrs. Thomas Brown, Warren; Mrs. Ed Simons, Coudersport; Mrs. Robert E. Olson of Ludlow; Mrs. Clarence Olson of Youngsville; Mrs. Everett Benson of Sheffield; Mrs. Enoch Nelson of Ludlow.

A new district chairman was elected, Mrs. C. Walter Johnson of St. Paul's Church, who will serve for a two-year term. The nominating committee was comprised of Miss Harriet Bartow of First Lutheran, Warren and Mrs. Russell Swanson of Saron Lutheran, Youngsville. Later the new officer was installed by Mrs. Ed Price and Mrs. Carl Eliason. Mrs. Enoch Nelson of Moriah Church, Ludlow, retiring district chairman, presided, with Mrs. Sigvard Nordstrom of Trinity Church, Smethport, as district secretary.

In the evening a supper was served with Mrs. John Bjorquist and Mrs. Victor Hornstrom the co-chairmen, assisted by a committee, and the Lutheran Leaguers who served as waitresses. Background organ music was provided by Miss Shirleyanne Johnson of St. Paul's. A special feature during the supper hour was the presentation of a skit "Dorothy Do Good" with Mrs. John Tannler and Miss Violet Lilja of Warren, the speakers. Greetings were given by the host pastor, the Rev. Carl R. Nelson, and Mrs. William Welsh, president of St. Paul's LCW.

Chief of registration for the district assembly was Miss Katherine Peterson of St. Paul's, with Mrs. Perry Wiedmaier of First Lutheran, Mrs. Arnold Edmiston of St. Paul's, Mrs. Melbourne Karlson of St. Paul's, and Mrs. Melvin Polling of St. John's Lutheran; chief usher was Mrs. John Dutches of St. Paul's; chief teller, Miss Millie Gillespie of First Lutheran in Ridgway; greeters were Mrs. Elmer Lundahl, Mrs. Lawrence Carlson, Mrs. Jess Smith and Mrs. Chris Anderson of St. Paul's; chief of book sales, Miss Violet Lilja, with Mrs. Margaret Peterson, Mrs. Lawrence Gordon, Mrs. Thomas Brown and Miss Patty Welsh.

Displays on exhibit were shown by committees headed by the following: Mrs. Paul Walker of Tabor Church, Kane; the Lutheran Home in Kane; Mrs. Kenneth Guindard of St. John's of Johnsbury, Christmon; St. John's of Warren, hymnal markers; First Church of Warren, workshop materials.

Erna Christine Milisits
Bride Of Dennis Johnson

Erna Christine Milisits, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Milisits of 1937 Garfield blvd., Chicago, Ill., became the bride of Dennis Robert Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Johnson of 104 Canton street, Warren, on Saturday, April 22. The double ring nuptial service was performed in St. Basil Church by the Rev. Father Troy at 2:30 o'clock.

Altar decorations included several baskets of white gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in white silk organza with lace, and a chapel length train. Her only jewelry was a strand of cultured pearls, the gift of the groom. Her chapel length veil was edged in hand embroidered silk lace and was secured by a circular headpiece trimmed with lace and pearls. She carried white carnations, with white rosebuds and stephanotis centered with a white orchid with silver glitter.

The maid of honor was Evelyn Wernike of Chicago; the bridesmaids were Karen Johnson, both sisters of the groom; Peggy Schonscheck and Judy Dapper of Chicago. All wore pink floor length gowns with lace trim and matching accessories. Their brief veils were secured by Dior bows.

Best man was Frank Harkakabus of Chicago. Ushers were Tony Pakarski of Chicago, Gary Talcott of Jamestown, cousin of the groom; Ron Christian of Flint, Michigan, and Rich Sanders of Indianapolis, Ind.

The mother of the groom wore a yellow and white jersey two-piece suit with brown accessories and a white orchid corsage. The mother of the bride was in a two-piece beige suit with sequins and matching accessories with a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held in the Mansion on West 63rd street, Chicago, with one hundred and fifty guests attending. The four tier wedding cake was the highlight of decorations at the

Witherow-Linton Vows Told
In Youngsville EUB Church

The First Evangelical United Brethren Church of Youngsville was the setting for the 2:30 afternoon wedding of Dorothy Lucille Witherow and Dale A. Linton, Saturday, April 22. The Rev. Charles McIntyre, pastor of the Chancellors Valley EUB Church, officiated, before an altar banked with baskets of white and pink snapdragons, palms and candleabra.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Spurgeon Witherow of Youngsville, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Linton of Utica, Pennsylvania.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of re-embroidered organza over tulle fashioned with short sleeves, scoop neckline, and a velvet ribbon defining the waistline. A long, graceful train was attached at the back with a large bow. Her headpiece of apple-blossoms secured her veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade of miniature white carnations with ivy streamers centered with a corsage of pink roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Mary Ann Holmes of Cochran, in a long gown of ice mint crystal peau with a headpiece of emerald green satin. She carried a crescent bouquet of white and pink miniature carnations. The bridesmaids were Miss Gail Miller of Utica, Miss Sherry Sayers of Cooperstown, in identical gowns of petal pink crystal peau. They carried crescents of miniature pink carnations, and their headpieces were of pink satin.

Best man was David Brumagin, brother-in-law of the groom, and ushers were Robert Long, Lynn Brumagin and Terry Witherow.
Mrs. Witherow, mother of the bride, was in a light pink crepe sheath with matching lace coat and navy accessories; Mrs. Linton, mother of the groom, chose a blue dress with matching lace trim. Each had a corsage of pink carnations and roses.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church where pink and green streamers carried out the color scheme. The buffet table was centered with the traditional four-tier wedding cake, and the bride's table was centered with a floral arrangement. Aides were Miss Gail Ann Buchanan and Miss Peggy Buchanan, cousins of the bride; Miss Lynn Hokenson, of Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Coast, aunt and uncle of the bride were the master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Janis Causser, cousin of the bride, took care of the guest book.

For traveling the new Mrs. Linton wore a white wool sheath, navy blue coat with red and white accessories. After traveling to Washington, D.C. and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Linton will reside on Route 1, Utica, Pennsylvania.

Pre-nuptial showers were given by Miss Gail Miller, Miss Lynn Hokenson and the ladies of the Youngsville Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Through The Looking Glass

Mrs. Richard Krapfel, chairman of General Admission Tickets committee for the WGH Auxiliary's fourth annual charity ball, called "Through The Looking Glass" from the Lewis Carroll book "Alice in Wonderland", met recently with her committee, Mrs. Thomas Marsh, Mrs. Harold Johnson, Mrs. John Huey and Mrs. Amos Wert, also Mr. Walrus, Mr. Carpenter and Alice.

It was a very odd committee meeting, indeed, and one that did not altogether please Alice, although it did not altogether displease her, either. Mr. Walrus simply took over the meeting and Mrs. Krapfel's report is a bit unusual; except that it's quite usual for an "Alice in Wonderland" ball:

"The time has come," the Walrus said,

to talk of many things:
Of Charity and Ticket Sales and good work that it brings of why our hospital is good and whether feet have wings.

"But wait a bit," the Walrus cried,
'before we have our chat;
for some of us are out of breath,
and one of us is fat!'

"No hurry!" said the Carpenter.
They thanked him much for that.

"To sell the tickets," Walrus said,
'and let the people know
May 6th is the Wonderland Ball to which we all should go.
Call Krapfel, Johnson, Huey,
Marsh—
We promise quite a show.' "

Beauty And The Bath

To bathe or not to bathe? That is the question. If your answer is to take a shower, then you don't know what you're missing. The Saturday night ceremony has come a long way from the tiny tin tub. Today you can create a cleansing concoction almost as enjoyable as those fabled baths of Caracalla.

With the Romans, of course, bathing was a cherished event. A bell announced that the baths were open, you paid a coin or two, played an arduous game as a warm up to clean up, rubbed yourself down with African sand and oil (guaranteed to erase all that grime) and enjoyed a trumvirate of warm, tepid and icy cold waters — who says we invented hot and cold water plumbing? Through history, many ideas have been handed down which apply for modern super sudsing. Although soap was unknown to the ancients (they used soapweed for lather), by the 16th century Castile soap from Spain was a household word in every castle. Today, the truly elegant still use a Castile-type of soap or choose one of the fragrant kind-to-your-skin varieties so readily available.

Nero may have fiddled but his wife, Poppaea, farmed. She originated the milk bath and fed her herds an herbal diet to enrich the milk even more. You, too, can luxuriate in a milk bath — 20th Century style. Here's how:

Measure a cup each of powdered skim milk, oatmeal and laundry starch; wrap ingredients in a cheesecloth bag (or make a sack out of a man's handkerchief). Swish the bag around in your bath water and then give yourself a rub-a-dub-scrub with it. Soak for about 20 minutes and you'll emerge with beautifully soft, smooth skin.

Madame de Pompadour had different herb gardens at each of her seven chateaux to enhance her bath. And Catherine the Great at 80 was reputed to have the complexion of a 20-year-old because of her bathing preparation, made with rare herbs which were sped to her on horseback from all over Russia. All you have to do is walk to the supermarket or drugstore to get the makings for a royal bath.

This simple formula, for example, was the well-kept beauty secret of a spectacular-looking Frenchwoman, Ninonde Lenclos: Wrap equal proportions (a spoonful or so) of dried lavender flowers, rosemary, thyme and dried mint in a large handkerchief or double cheesecloth. Toss into tub and pour very hot water over the "bag"; let it steep ten minutes; then finish filling your tub and soak for 20 minutes.

Another historical bathing beautifier is called a "loofa." Composed of vegetable fiber, which looks like straw, loofa scrub away dead cells and help restore circulation. The loofa outranks a washcloth or sponge and is widely available today.

While you're a bathing beauty, surround yourself with pleasing accessories. A plastic covered towel makes a tub pillow. An inexpensive, indispensable tub tray holds bathing needs. And what could be more luxurious than a fluffy bath towel for mopping up operations?

Our knowledgeable ancestors had the right idea. Bathing actually gives new life and beauty to the skin. An ancient Chinese emperor, whose own tub was solid jade, thought a daily bath was the best way to "renew, rejuvenate thyself." His theory might work for THE NEW YOU, who chooses tub over shower at least once a week.

JUST FOR YOU: Add a handful of oatmeal to bath water to eliminate that ring around the tub . . . softens your skin, as well.

Vows Pledged At Nuptial Mass In St. James Parish, Jamestown

A candlelight satin bridal gown which her mother wore at her own wedding thirty-two years ago this month, was worn by Marsha Marie Lunetta for her wedding to William Joseph Ross, Saturday, April 22, in St. James School Auditorium, Jamestown, N.Y. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank Lunetta of 19 Barker street, Jamestown, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ross of Sheffield.

Palms were at the foot of the altar stairs, and baskets of white snapdragons, gladioli, Shasta pompons and chrysanthemums, formed the background for the Nuptial Mass celebrated by the Rev. R. Federico who read the double ring rites. The bride's cousin, Richard Lunetta, was Mass moderator. Wedding musicians were Mrs. Samuel Cusimano, organist, and Mrs. Vincent Cirincione, soloist.

The bride's heirloom gown was styled with a cowl neckline and leg-of-mutton sleeves and its floor length skirt had a chapel train outlined by a satin ruffle. Upon her head, a cathedral mantilla was edged with Alencon lace and she carried an arrangement of Calla lilies and white roses.

The matron of honor, sister of the bride, was Mrs. Dennis B. Clark of Royal Oak, Michigan, in a floor length gown of pink crepe and raspberry brocade with a matching cabbage rose headpiece securing her tiered veil. In similar ensembles, but with light pink headpieces were bridesmaids Mrs. Anthony M. Foti, cousin of the bride, from Rochester, and Mrs. John L. Mosler of Waterford, Penna., sister of the groom. Mistress Lynetta Marie Clark, niece of the bride, was the flower girl in a frock of identical design. She carried a silver basket of tiny white daisies and wore a raspberry hair bow.

Ralph Gallo of Warren, was best man for his nephew; ushers were Dennis B. Clark of Royal Oak, and James Rogers of Weirton, West Virginia. Patrick Dennis Clark, nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer. Altar boys were Daniel Lunetta, cousin of the bride, and Terry Hogan.

The newlyweds greeted guests at a reception held in Fluvanna Fire Hall, with cousins of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. H. Richard Rohm of North Tonawanda, in charge of ceremonies. Aides were Mrs. John Weiss, Mrs. Clarence Corcoran, Miss Linda White and Miss Marlene Lunetta.

After a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, New York City, and Washington, D.C., Mr. and Mrs. Ross will be at home at 305 E. Fifth street.

The parents of the bridegroom were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at the Four O'Clock Club.

South created the impression that he was looking thru the opponent's cards, when he played the trump suit in today's four spade contract. His explanation at the conclusion of the deal, however, revealed that his performance was based on a logical line of reasoning instead of X-ray vision.

West led the eight of clubs. East put up the ace, and promptly returned his singleton diamond. West played the ace and another diamond, which his partner ruffed with the three of spades. The defensive book was now completed, and East exited with a club which declarer won in dummy.

The fate of the contract rested entirely on how the trump suit was handled. A small spade was led. East followed with the six, and South—without any apparent deliberation—played the ten from his hand. When West showed out, it became routine to reenter the North hand with the ace of hearts to repeat the spade finesse. South drew the remaining trump and claimed the rest.

After accepting his partner's admiring congratulation, South was called on to explain his extraordinary handling of the trump suit.

"With so few trumps out against me, I am aware that after East ruffed the diamond, the percentage play is to take a single finesse in spades. I was able to glean some pertinent information from the bidding, however, that convinced me to discard the book.

"On the evidence available from the first four tricks, East showed up with four clubs and one diamond. His remaining eight cards, therefore, must consist of four spades and four hearts—because, if he held a five card suit, he would hardly have opened the bidding with one club. I accordingly decided to play him for all the missing trumps."

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Magnetic Mars forces stimulate your ambitions, energy and desire to be "in the middle of things." Fine! But choose your route carefully, and be discriminating in all activities. Don't waste precious time and talents on worthless undertakings.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—You can do more with the week-end than may seem possible at this moment. There will be plenty of opportunities to advance your status—both personal and business. They merely need uncovering.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Responsibilities you did not anticipate? Tackle regular duties first, then take on what you can—within reason. Over-crowding your schedule and rushing to the point of distraction won't get you anywhere.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—You may not accomplish ALL you hope to, but don't quit! Keep your hand on the wheel and keep pressing forward—to make SOME gains! If you falter or give up, your net result will be zero.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Day may not be exciting but, if you look in the right places, you will find more than adequate reason for rejoicing. Get an early start!

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Sidestep any activity that could hamper your forward movement. And remember that forward movement includes thinking as well as acting. You may encounter unexpected situations; much good, too.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Getting preliminaries out of the way thoroughly, but not fussily, will be your main line to success now. Emphasize co-ordination, accuracy, foresight. Personal interests highly favored.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—A strong Mars aspect will help you with difficult tasks, if managed properly. It's not like you to shirk responsibilities, but you may have such a tendency now. Don't! You CAN accomplish!

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—A fine Jupiter configuration stimulates your adaptability and inventiveness; heightens your imagination. Much can be done on a day such as this! Don't fall yourself.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—You may find yourself waiting for opportunity while actually standing still. This must not be! Take the reins and drive on toward your goals. Employ any usable idea, method, but do ACT!

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—An excellent day in which to display your competence in home, office or other areas which need your presence and skills. But do not try to cover too much territory at once.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Look over all situations comprehensively, penetratingly. Then, coupling your native intelligence and remarkable intuition, ACT—if you feel the time is ripe.

YOU BORN TODAY? Others often wonder how you manage to "fall into" glorious opportunities for attainment but, actually, it's your innate shrewdness and fine business acumen which lead you to such "unbelievable" finds. You are one of those rare persons who combine idealism with realistic know-how, and your successes seem to know no end. Many Taureans engage in two occupations at once; some have several careers in sequence—and succeed in all. Taureans make excellent musicians, writers, artists, scientists, botanists, teachers and horticulturists. Birthdate of: James Monroe, 5th Pres., U.S.A.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

BODY ACTION IN SLEEP

The body organs continue to work during sleep, but total relaxation alters their function. This explains the various phenomena that take place at night. The glands are depressed except those that produce sweat. Dryness of the throat on awakening is due partly to reduction in secretions of the salivary glands in the mouth and the mucus-producing structures in the nose.

Perspiration goes on; consequently, we weigh a little less on arising than we did on going to bed. The rise in skin temperature associated with generalized relaxation augments the function of the sweat glands.

The pulse rate in a individual with a normal heart is slowed 10 to 30 beats during sleep; metabolism falls from 10 to 15 per cent. Suppression of tears is responsible for the legendary sandman; the eyes are rubbed because they feel dry and crusty.

The blood pressure drops slightly in the normal person and much more in the hypertensive. Some physicians take readings during sleep to determine how low the level will go during complete relaxation. This is reasonable because the use of sedatives or other drugs is useless unless relaxation lowers tension. Studies show that blood pressure rises during an exciting dream. This situation has been blamed for heart attacks and apoplexy that occur at night, but whether a true relationship exists between the two is a moot question.

Amnesia is common among sleepers. An intern who is called during the night becomes fully conscious and may answer complicated questions. He hangs up the receiver, rolls over, and falls asleep. The next morning he may not be able to recall the conversation.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request. TOMORROW: Meningococcal Infections.

HEBERDEN'S NODULES

J. J. H. writes: Our family is addicted to bumps on the fingers. There is no pain. Is this condition related to arthritis?

REPLY Yes. This disorder, called Heberden's nodes, is a form of hypertrophic arthritis. Soreness usually lasts one to six months. A good treatment is soaking the hands in hot water and women who do their own dishes are thus provided with an easy form of therapy.

CARE OF BLISTERS

E.D.L. writes: Can anything be done to heal blisters faster, like pricking them to let out the blood?

REPLY Sticking a needle into a blood blister is not recommended because of the danger of infection. Germs thrive on blood, but so long as the lesion remains closed they cannot get in. Apply a clean bandage and forget the blister.

SACROILIAC DISCOMFORT

H.B.F. writes: I have been wearing a sacroiliac belt for the last seven years without much relief. Is there anything else that can be done for this ailment?

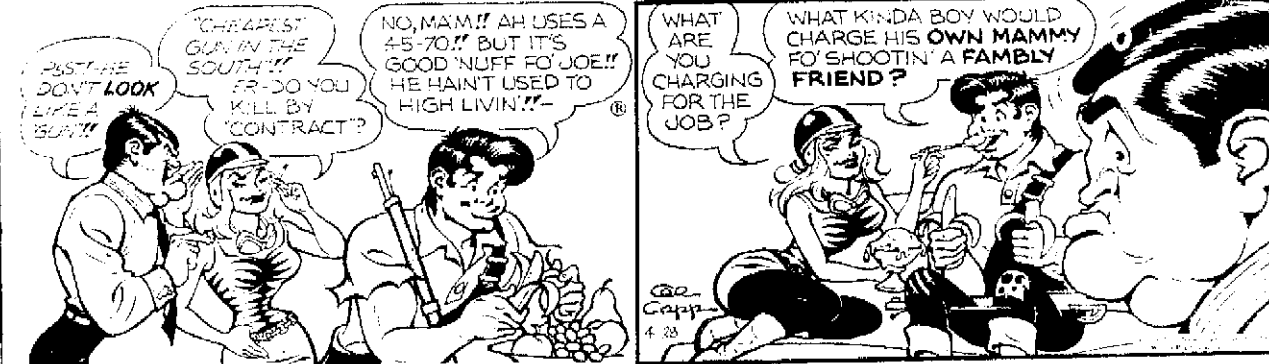

REPLY Yes. If your physician cannot help, why not ask for a consultation with an orthopedic surgeon who is a specialist in this field.

'No Boys Allowed' Big Success at Ike High

By CINDY GLOTZ
and MITZI BREZEE

Saturday, April 22, the junior class of Eisenhower High School presented their class play, "No Boys Allowed."

The play was a big success, as it attracted people from all over the community. It was shown to the junior and senior high on Thursday and Friday afternoons respectively. On Thursday evening there was another presentation for the public.

The amusing and fast-moving plot was centered around a slumber party thrown by Rita Baxter, played by Amy Bowen, for a crowd of her girl friends. Anyway, that's the way it all began. Let's look back now, for awhile, on that eventful night which involved the lives of seven girls and four boys.

It's about 8:00 p.m., Friday night in the Baxter living room. Have you ever been the victim of an unjust accusation? Well, Fred Dana, played by Tom Bosko, was. It seems Fred had kissed his blonde cousin 'good-bye' at the airport and Fred's girlfriend had seen him. Now what sensible young girl is going to up. Here, they are literally thrown out by Rita and her friends. They are: Rita's sister, JANE—Mary Lawson; PATSY—Ann Tutmaher; NADA—Vicki Manelick; EDWINA—believe her boyfriend when he says that beautiful blonde out there was only his cousin? Not Rita, that's for sure. She tells Fred they're through and leaves him to mend his broken heart.

But Fred's a determined boy, and takes his friend, Leroy, played by Tim Allen, with him to Rita's house on the night of the slumber party to patch things

Lynn Burlingame; and BELINDA—Debbie Lindell. Then, Victrola, Vivian Tutmaher, the Negro housemaid, is scared by a man prowler known as Mr. Midnight, Gary Stanton. At first the girls are scared, but then they think it is only Fred and Leroy trying to scare them, so by the time a policeman, Dave Arthur, comes to capture Mr. Midnight, the girls throw him out thinking it is one of Fred's tricks again!

The plot really starts to move as Rita calls Keith, played by Dick Hale, the conceited, good-looking young man, to come over and keep a watch on the house to keep Fred and Leroy away. Keith comes and brings his friend Harvey, Sherman Burdick, with him to help. Now that Fred and Rita have broken up, Keith is out to get Rita to go to the school dance with him.

All this time, Fred and Leroy are hiding in the hall closet, and Fred wins back Rita with the help of Fred's mother, Mrs. Dana, Kathy Ludwick, who finally tells Rita that the blonde is really Fred's cousin.

The juniors' hard work showed in the end. Many hours of practice made it a great play and put it high on the list of good class plays from Eisenhower High School. The juniors must be congratulated for a job well done. Recognition must also be given to their faculty director, Mr. Merle Nosker and their student director, Mark Kane.

BRINGS DOWN THE HOUSE

Sheffield's 'Hillbilly Wedding'

By JILL BURGASON

The walls of the Sheffield High School auditorium shook until the plaster fell last night.

This was the result of the Senior Class Play, "Hillbilly Weddin'."

The play told the story of a lazy, hillbilly father, played by John Dynak who was ordered by his wife, Maureen O'Connor, to find husbands for his two daughters. Bonnie Mae, played by Kathy Jenkins, was a bookworm and refused to accept the idea that she had to marry someone she didn't love. Ceelle, played by Jill Burgason, was thrilled at the thought of "gettin' hitched" and couldn't wait to find a husband. Her only trouble was that she was too homely and too dirty for anyone to want.

Nevertheless, Paw was out to find husbands for his two daughters—even if it meant using a shot gun. Chiz Upschlager found out it did. Chiz, played by Bill Jones, was the one Paw chose for Ceelle, and if a rich couple from the city hadn't shown up, the wedding probably would have taken place. Lucy Maxwell, played by Gloria McMillan, and her nephew Ronald Maxwell, played by Dave Bastow, found that running out of gas in the hills can prove to be a very exciting experience. After Ceelle rejected Chiz for a prospective husband, she focused her attention on Ronald, who had no time for her but concentrated his attention on Bonnie Mae.

When Paw failed to shoot "the dude," for Ceelle, Maw ruled out the idea of a shot gun wedding and said that the wedding must be fair and square. So—Paw started a feud, in order to "wing the dude" without Maw knowing it, and the feud did bring a husband for Ceelle.

The play ends with Ceelle marrying Chiz's brother Obeey, played by Jeff Washburn, on one condition—that she'll kill her rattlesnakes, and Ceelle agrees wholeheartedly. Bonnie Mae's wish comes true when Ronald and Lucy Maxwell invite her to come to the city to live with them where she can enter nurses training, and Paw is only too glad to see the girls gone as he is "tard o' lookin' fer husbands fer 'em."

Others in the play were Candy Swanson as Juney Lou Belsnickle, Deanne Camp as Four Belsnickle, Linda Bowley as Five Belsnickle, Jeanne Newman as Six Belsnickle, Bruce Atwood as the Reverend, John Sixt as Cousin Zeke, and Ray Barr, Becky Farnsworth, Cindy Fitzgerald, Bill Beck, Dorothy Dickey and Eldeen Nelson as the Cousins.

Alison Leaving in June

By SUE MACKS
and DIANNE HANNOLD

Alison Comfort, the New Zealand exchange student at Youngsville High under the AFS program, has nearly completed her year in this country.

She arrived by jet in San Francisco on Aug. 3 last year and came to Youngsville to reside with the Mervin Craft family. She leaves here June 30 to begin a three-week bus tour of the east.

She will return to her home country on July 28. Greeting her will be her brother, Graham, 15; her mother, a private secretary in a Wellington business; and her father, a building contractor.

Alison has received word that she will have a reunion with her sister, Sandra, 21, who is flying over for a tour of the U.S. and will attend Alison's graduation at Youngsville.

Miss Comfort is from Tawa, a town about nine miles from Wellington, the New Zealand capital. She says the weather there is not so cold as here and they have no extremes in climate. There is no snow in the cities—only on the mountain ranges.

She found it "delightful" to have snow in the yard and a skiway just a stone's throw away. She is an avid skier, both snow and water. She also enjoys outdoor basketball, softball, tennis, badminton, and surfing.

The school year in New Zealand differs from that of the U.S. It lasts from February to December with a total of five weeks holiday during the year; two weeks are in May and two weeks are in August, their winter.

In the school that Alison attends, there is no make-up allowed and the girls' hair had to be "off your collar." Each student was required to wear a school uniform. This is mandatory, Alison says, for all students in the country, both in public and private schools.

The driving age in New Zealand is 15 and the legal age for drinking is 21, Alison told the students at an assembly on Wednesday. The latter ruling, she said, is not heavily enforced. The voting age is 21 and New Zealand is on the British monetary system, with shillings and pounds, until July, when they change to the decimal system.

The students of Youngsville have enjoyed her stay very much. She has become friends with many and her bubbling British voice will be missed in the halls when she leaves.

Ankie Returns

Ankie DeJongh, exchange student at Youngsville High in 1962, arrived in Youngsville on Monday for a visit with her "American family." During her year in Youngsville, Ankie made her home with the Robert Jewell family. She soon will start a speaking tour of the U.S.

Youngsville Changes Awards Day Ceremony

By DIANNE HANNOLD
and SUE MACKS

Youngsville High School's annual awards day and May Day ceremonies will take place on Wednesday, May 17.

Big feature of the day is the crowning of the May Queen, who with her court will preside over the ceremonies.

Two weeks ago, students from grades 10-12 voted for five girls from the junior class. The five girls with the most votes were the finalists for the title of May Queen.

Two days after the voting, the names of the finalists were announced. They were Vonnice Craft, Judy Rafalski, Bonnie Persing, Kathy Dunham, and Margo Finlan.

Senior high students will vote again to determine who will be the queen.

This year's crowning will be

The high point of the year for the Citizenship League of Beauty Junior High School came yesterday when Silver B awards were made to 89 students, 66 of them in the ninth grade.

Receiving the top awards were Christine Cassatt and Dennis Marshall. Both are eighth graders. Christine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cassatt of 116 Connecticut ave. Dennis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Marshall, 137 Buchanan st.

The president of the Citizenship League, John Borger, was in charge of the awards program. He was assisted by the vice president, Mary Juniano, and two members of the League, Kathy Williams and Wendy Stoldt.

Dr. John Roop was the speaker. He was introduced by Mr. Henry Powell. The orchestra, conducted by Mr. Richard West, took part in the awards assembly. The reception held after the assembly for parents was planned by Mrs. Helen Frank and girls of the Home Economics classes.

Eighth graders receiving the awards were, in addition to Christine and Dennis:

Ninth graders receiving the award were: different from past years. In the past, the results of the voting were made known to the finalists and their escorts before they proceeded into the gym. The girls then started into the gym, with the May Queen being the last girl to enter.

Karen Albaugh, Dorothy Ball, Patricia Barhight, Scott Bengston, Jill Berdine, Gary Bona, John Borger, Patti Bullock, John Critelli, Anne Culbertson, Cynthia Dahler, Laurie Dell, Debbie Dietsch, Romy Dove, Linda Echelmeyer, Glenn Eschborn, Valerie Farrell, Deborah Flood, Charles Gerardi, Marguerite Goodwill, Jon Hahn, Jane Harper, Marcia Hulse, Kristine Hodas, Deborah Honhart, Nancy Howard, Nancy Jackson, Kristine Johnson, Marsha Keller, Lee Kestler, William Lasher, Susan Lawrence,

This year, the girls will not know who the Queen is until all of the candidates are in the gym and the procession is over. Then last year's May Queen will announce the name of the new Queen in the presence of the student body.

Another change this year will be the dress of the court. In the past, only the new May Queen wore a floor-length gown, which was white. This year, members of the court will all wear floor-length gowns.

After the crowning of the Queen, the awards presentations will begin. Dane Barber will announce them.

Teens Look To Future, Survey Shows

NEW YORK — Teen-agers in American high schools believe a congenial and harmonious family life and making a significant contribution in the service of others will afford them the greatest future personal satisfaction, according to a nationwide poll among junior and senior high school students conducted by Scholastic Magazines, Inc.

Of all students polled, 43 per cent said a happy family life offers the greatest satisfaction, while 21 per cent feel satisfaction lies in serving others. Recognition of skills and ability (14 per cent), and an outstanding reputation in the community (8 per cent) were other sources of personal satisfaction cited.

Today's high school students reject great wealth or a large income as primary sources of happiness. Only 7 per cent of the students think accumulating great wealth essential for a rewarding life.

The poll, conducted by the Scholastic Research Center, New York, involved in-depth questionnaires returned by a scientifically selected sampling of 862 junior and senior high school students in public, private, and parochial schools across the nation.

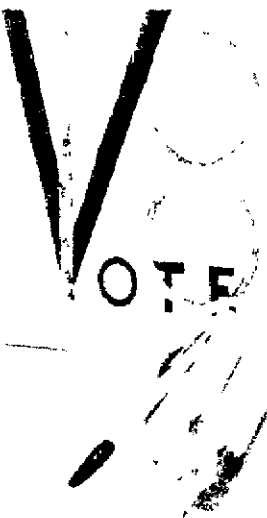

The survey also asked students to name career preferences. Sixty-seven per cent of the teen-agers surveyed cited one of the professions as their career goal. The career preferences of the remaining students are widely distributed among nine other career choices including service worker, clerk, craftsman, and manager.

Thirty-four per cent of all those polled, feel they have a better than equal chance of realizing their specific career goals. More than half (57 per cent) think they have an equal chance, and only 7 per cent believe they have a less than equal chance.

On the question: "How much do you think your peak earnings will be in your main occupation?" —14 per cent of the boys surveyed say they expect their incomes to fall between $5,000 and $8,000 a year; 12 per cent between $8,000 and $10,000; 22 per cent between $10,000 and $15,000; and 18 per cent between $15,000 and $20,000. Three per cent expect to earn under $5,000 and 26 per cent feel they are destined to earn over $20,000.

A solid majority of students participating in the poll intend to continue their education past high school. Approximately two-thirds (66 per cent), plan to attend a four-year college; 11 per cent a two-year college; and 7 per cent a trade school. Of the male students surveyed, 11 per cent intend to enlist in the Armed Forces, and 1 per cent expect to be drafted.

The present sampling of 862 high school students represents all types and sizes of schools.

Warren Gymnasts Travel With Show

By KAYE GORENFLO

The '67 Gym Show troupe of Warren High traveled to Sheffield Tuesday for two performances of their "circus."

Leaving the high school at approximately 12:30, the group had time for one quick run-through before the afternoon show at 3:15, attended by the Sheffield grade-schoolers. The audience was surprisingly receptive, especially, quoting Mr. Pasarro, "to the cotton candy."

After a dinner of sloppy joes, provided by Sheffield High School, the performers were ready for the evening performance. Once again, a full house, both awed and receptive, observed the skills of the gymnasts.

Every piece of equipment was taken to Sheffield except the trapeze, flying rings, and high bar, and the show was complete with such highlights as the Color Guard, the clodsters, and the silver men. Mr. Miller and several boys worked Monday and Tuesday morning setting up the Sheffield gym, which had never had any apparatus hanging from its ceiling before. The small but adequate gym went under a startling transformation, and was fully equipped with spotlights, backlighting, and circus decorations.

The visit was the result of Sheffield's acceptance of Warren's offer to bring our show to their school. It was a pleasing experience for both the gym show members and the Sheffield audiences. Both the afternoon and evening performances were very well received, and both ran well. Perhaps the trip will help to stimulate more extensive gymnastics at Sheffield High School, for the teen-agers attending the show were obviously impressed. One high school boy was heard to ask, "Gee, do you think we could do that if we practiced?"

It did take lots of time and effort, but every gym show performer is ready to say that it was all worth it. Now the gym show is over for this year, but in the minds of Mr. Miller, Mrs. Creek, Mr. Pasarro, the members of the show, the audiences in both Warren and Sheffield, it will always remain a bright spot.

Seeking Pen-Pals

Brazilian students in Sao Paulo, the largest city in South America and the fastest-growing city in the world, are looking for pen pals from Warren County.

The students have formed a group known as Amigos Internacionais, or International Friends. The address is Caixa Postal 7286, Sao Paulo, SP, Brazil.

"We never had the opportunity of visiting the United States," the students said in asking pen pals to forgive their incorrect English. "We are a group of high school and college students and our idea of promoting friendship among Latin American young people started a few months ago."

To do this, several thousand Brazilian teen-agers formed the group to correspond with Norte Americanos—North Americans. The idea spread to include 11,000 Brazilians and 15,000 teen-agers from Mexico to Argentina.

Those interested in writing to South America must send full name and address. Amigos Internacionais will send an explanatory sheet about the club and a form to be filled out on personal data.

'Mortals' Schedule Key Dance

By DIANNE HANNOLD and SUE MACKS

The newest and most popular dance group in the Warren-Youngsville area is "The Mere Mortals," who are playing for the Golden Key Room dance at Youngsville High School tonight.

The Mere Mortals have had dances at the Skiways and several other places in the Warren vicinity. Last week, they provided the sound for the FBLA Computer dance in Youngsville on Friday and at the Skiways on Saturday.

The theme of the Golden Key Room dance was selected by the Key Club, sponsors of the dance. It will be held from 8 to 11 p.m., with couples only. Admission is $1, and no reservations can be made at the door.

There will be two shows. The first, from 9 to 9:30, will feature a comedy monologue by George Nelson, a few songs by John Brasington, and a few numbers by a dance band made up of Tim Persing, Dean Hendrickson, Ray Hollabaugh, Jim Williams, and Greg Clark.

The second show from 10 to 10:30 will feature Nancy Clark, singing, Bob Chisholm with a monologue, and the special guests, the Mere Mortals.

Three of the members of the Mere Mortals, John Thompson, Rich Blakeslee, and Roy Hollabaugh, are juniors at Youngsville High. John plays lead guitar, organ, harmonica, and drums and does vocal background. Rich, the drummer, plays bass guitar and also sings background. Roy plays rhythm and bass guitar and tambourine and sings.

Doug Hoffman, a senior at Warren High, plays the organ and bass guitar. He also sings.

Roger Jenkins, the lead singer, was graduated last year from Warren High and now attends Edinboro State College's campus in Warren. He plays rhythm guitar and does most of the writing for the group, with Ray and John. Some of their own songs are "Sue Will," "Oliver," "Girl, Stop Pushin' Me," "Funice," and "She Went Away."

Teenagers in this vicinity enjoy their music and it seems likely that many more teenagers in Pennsylvania will soon come to know their rocking melodies.

Beaty Junior High Events

By ELLIOT SEGEL

Mr. Passaro, principal of the High School, came down to Beaty to help ninth grade students to select their courses for next year. After the homeroom period, the students went down to the auditorium. There, for almost one and one-half hours, he explained to them how they should fill out a computer sheet and card according to their selected courses. These cards will be sent to a computer at Pittsburgh where the schedules will be made out. All of the ninth grade students would like to thank Mr. Passaro, the ninth grade guidance counselors, Mrs. Bufton and Mr. McFate, and all of the ninth grade teachers for the time they spent helping them out.

The spring semi-formal, "Raindrops on Roses" was held recently at the Y.W.C.A. It was well attended.

Five members of the Beaty Dugaree Band went to Albion, Pa. where they attended the Junior High District Band Concert. The five students were Dave Mahan, Cathy Werner, Martin Kanovsky, Wendy Stoldt, and Randy Johnson. Mahan, playing the cornet and accompanied by Werner on the piano, had the concert's only solo. The students were accompanied on their trip by Mr. West, the Dugaree Band conductor.

YOUNGVILLE FTA OFFICERS

treasurer; Sandra Ongley, secretary; B. J. Bower, historian; Sue Kushner, president; and Betsy Olson, parliamentarian.

Youngsville FTA Has Installation

The Youngsville Chapter of Pennsylvania Future Teachers of America highlighted its club's observance of Teaching Career Month with a formal installation of the officers for 1967-1968.

Members met in the auditorium at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 25, to learn the results of the elections held by secret ballot at last week's regular meeting.

Miss Linda Hannold provided organ music as the group assembled. For an inspirational message Lynn Morley showed slides of western United States while a recording of "Which Way America" by an "Up With People" group was played.

Mary Ann Williams then introduced Mr. Felix Matthews, president of the Northwest Region of PSEA as well as high school principal of Y.H.S., who was the keynote speaker. Next, Miss Nita Zacks of Harborcreek, newly elected vice-president of the state PFTA brought greetings from the state organization and Miss Bobbie Turner of Fort Le Boeuf High School, newly elected president of NWPFTA, urged greater participation in regional activities. Both girls expressed their appreciation for the support given to them by the Youngsville students.

The newly elected local officers: Sue Kissner, president; Lynn Morley, vice-president; Sandra Ongley, secretary; Pat Hill, treasurer; Betsy Olson, parliamentarian, and B. J. Bower, historian, were installed individually by the current officers in an effective candlelight service that stressed the responsibilities of each office.

Punch and cookies were served in the lobby. Mrs. Robert Sandblat is advisor.

EDWARD ZIEGLER will go to South America for three months as an exchange student.

Sends First Exchange Student

Edward Ziegler is the first young person from the Tidioute area to be selected as an exchange student under the International Fellowship program. Ed, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ziegler, is a Tidioute high school junior who has been very active in 4-H and Boy Scouts, high school sports, clubs and other activities.

When school is out in June, Ed will go to South America where he will spend three months in Rosario, Argentina, attending school classes there. Coincidentally, the first foreign student to be entertained in Tidioute, Miss Lillian Pellegrini, of Venado Tuerto, Argentina, attended high school in Rosario and is presently a medical student at the university there. Ed's trip to South America is being sponsored by the Future Teachers of America Club at Tidioute high school, the Tidioute Lions Club and the Tidioute Fortnightly Club.

Tidioute Calendar

GRANGE LEGISLATIVE DINNER will be held at Mountain Grange Hall on Saturday, April 29. Tickets are $2 per person. John Scott, Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, will be guest speaker.

TIDIOUTE FORTNIGHTLY CLUB will hold its annual banquet at the Holiday Inn, Oil City, on Monday evening, May 1, at 6:30.

WELL BABY CLINIC will be held Tuesday morning, May 2, in the school health suite, with the regular staff and physician in attendance.

METHODIST WSCS will meet in the church social rooms on Tuesday evening, May 2, for a regular monthly meeting and program.

TIDIOUTE LIONS CLUB will have a dinner-meeting at the Pittsburgher Tuesday evening, May 2.

Mexican Slides At Garden Club

Mr. and Mrs. William Allen entertained the Tidioute Garden Club members Tuesday night with a collection of colored slides taken on their tour of Mexico last summer. The meeting at the Presbyterian Church was preceded by a tureen dinner with hosts Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Daehouen being assisted by various club members.

A discussion was held concerning the Western Pennsylvania Conservancy Tour which will take place Saturday, May 20. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barber of Slippery Rock will be the guides.

A chartered bus from Warren, seating 29 persons, will leave at 8 a.m. and return at about 8 p.m. The estimated cost to each person will be $4 to $5. A box lunch should be taken and dinner will be enjoyed at the Village Inn at Harlensburg.

Mrs. Floyd Swanson, chairman of the civic beautification committee, announced the work bee at the bridge approaches will begin as soon as the weather permits. Considerable clean-up is necessary before the planting of memorials can begin.

From Our Corner

By LENORE MCINTYRE
COMMUNITY ACTION

Our neighbors in Youngsville are to be commended for their Community Action program and Tidioute could very nicely emulate their efforts. Youngsville's Community Action Committee, organized through the local Office of Economic Opportunity, recognized its most immediate need and proceeded in that direction.

A non-profit organization is being formed in Youngsville to facilitate the financing and construction of medium-cost housing for the elderly. A similar group in Warren is guiding the construction of housing units in that community.

Tidioute is not growing and never can grow until something is done about housing. We not only are not attracting new residents but there is also a gradual loss of the kind of residents we should be keeping.

This is a residential community and as such appeals to many even though it means commuting to another area to work. Many inquiries about housing have come from people who would like to move into Tidioute, the kind of people that are a credit to any community. Our young people marry but have to live elsewhere because there is no available housing here.

This exodus of income-producing young adults means that not only is the town growing older but also its population. The needs and services of the community do not lessen but the number of people able to pay taxes in support of them grows smaller, as the ranks of the elderly on pensions, social security or public assistance are swelled.

It should be fairly obvious that the first step in rehabilitating Tidioute is to do something about the housing situation. There hasn't been a new home built here in several years and the number of rental apartments has declined rapidly.

Yet the Tidioute area's Community Action Committee is more concerned about the construction of a building to house the fire and ambulance services, borough offices, and a community hall. Admittedly, such a center would be a welcome addition to the town both in appearance and efficiency. But it wouldn't solve the housing shortage one iota nor bring in any tax revenue.

A town must have people if it is to stay alive and prosperous. And a good share of its population must be young, active, income-producing and tax-paying.

Tidioute's most urgent need is for medium-cost housing and to this objective all efforts should be directed. It is being accomplished in other communities and can be here if the emphasis is placed on need rather than desire.

Better yet, the Community Action Committee might easily prove itself most effective if it spearheaded a non-profit group to handle the housing problem and concentrated its secondary efforts toward acquiring a community building. This really would be a civic service that would be remembered and acclaimed for years to come.

Surely, saving a town comes first.

Cancer Crusade Nets $409.25

The annual cancer crusade conducted recently in the Tidioute area resulted in collections totaling $409.25. This represents an excess of more than 36 per cent of the $300 quota set for Branch 10, which includes Tidioute borough, and the townships of Limestone, Deerfield and Watson. Mrs. Lenore McIntyre was chairman for Branch 10.

Tidioute borough's quota was $190 and collections totaled $246.90. Tidioute captains were Mrs. Billy Kitefinger and Mrs. James Wolford. Solicitors were Mrs. George McKown, Mrs. Joseph Kelly, Mrs. Lee Rosequist, Mrs. John Stewart Jr., Mrs. Robert Killmer, Mrs. Kenneth Williams, Mrs. Harold Konkle, Mrs. Roy Nicholson, Mrs. Charles Anderson, Mrs. Walter McGraw, Mrs. Richard Raybuck, Mrs. Robert Anderson Jr., Mrs. Melvin Speicher, Mrs. Bernard Lindell and Mrs. William Karns.

In Limestone township, Mrs. Ronnie Weller served as captain and $65 was collected. The quota was $50. Solicitors were Mrs. Bruce Ziegler, Mrs. Fred Edmiston, Miss Hazel Druggan and Mrs. Fred Yeager.

Mrs. William Shavley was captain for Watson township where collections of $46.35 exceeded the $30 quota. Solicitors were Mrs. Ralph Fry, Mrs. Ray Mickelson, Mrs. Carl Kupniewski and Mrs. Shavley.

In Deerfield township, Mrs. Thomas Laubach, captain, was assisted by Mrs. Milton Check and Mrs. Nicholas Vushnick. The collections totaled $51 and the quota was $30.

The Warren county unit of the American Cancer Society and Mrs. McIntyre, Branch 10 chairman, express appreciation to the captains and solicitors for their efforts and to the generous contributors who made the cancer collection so successful.

Gas Co. Tour For Peggy Hardy

FOR PEGGY HARDY Peggy Hardy, RD2, Pittsfield, a student of Tidioute high school, has been selected by her classmates to represent their school in attending the annual gas country tour to be sponsored by the United Natural Gas Company on Wednesday, May 3.

Every year a senior girl from each of the high schools located in UNG's territory, usually a home economics student, is elected by her classmates to participate in the gas country tour. The event is designed to afford the guests an opportunity to observe the processes of production and transmission that provide natural gas service to their homes. This year's tour will include students from 50 high schools in northwestern Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio.

UNG officers and supervisors serve as drivers and narrators. The itinerary of the tour will include the gas-producing areas in the heavily wooded sections adjacent to the Clarion river, principally in northern Jefferson and southern Elk counties.

Junior Class Play Tonight

The junior class of Tidioute high school will present a three-act comedy, "Aunt Cathie's Cat," in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight, Friday, April 28. Directors are Miss Felicia Passaro and Mrs. George Fuelhart and Mr. Eugene Szul is stage manager. The cast includes Roseanna Barton as Cathie Trimble; Barbara Cook as Jane Trimble; Janice McGraw as Dorothy Trimble; and Cheryl Bosko as Margaret Trimble.

Other roles are: Bill Pryor, Ed Ziegler; Maria Garcia, Rosemary Kowalski; Jose Garcia, Max Anderson; Tilly Pitts, Susan Barton; Miss Walker, Laurie Alberth; Gas Man, Tim Gerus; Officer, Fritz Anderson; David Brent, Steve Atkin; The Body, Jack Larimer; Eliza, abeth Pryor, Cindy Konkle.

The play concerns two refined maiden ladies, their two attractive nieces and a dumb, dora maid who decide to rent a spooky old mansion that has been shut up for a long time. They are unaware that mysterious things have been going on.

But when the real estate agent takes his prospective renters to see the house, two queer, rough-looking men scurry across the stage carrying the bloody-faced body of a man. A strange white-faced woman dressed in black appears on the stairway but disappears when she hears people coming. The ladies decide to move in.

AUNT CATHIE'S CAT, a three-act mystery comedy, will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in the Tidioute school auditorium by the junior class.

and then the excitement begins. Strange occurrences convince the new tenants that someone is going to be murdered. Finally, at the height of their terror, the solution comes and the whole mysterious business is cleared up.

Meanwhile, a romance develops between one of the nieces and the personable young realtor. But more surprising than anything is another, unforeseen romance which is disclosed at the end.

The curtain parts on this unusual mystery comedy at 8 o'clock tonight. Admission prices are seventy-five cents for adults and thirty-five cents for students.

Visit Parents

A Tidioute home was made happy recently when two young people serving in the armed forces spent leaves with their parents. They were PFC Terry L. Benner and A3C Mary Lynn Benner, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Benner.

Terry is starting a tour of duty in Korea with the U.S. Army and Mary Lynn returned to Elgin Air Force Base in Florida.

One third of the United States is forest land, including more than 1,000 different kinds of trees.

Friday's TV Highlights

WILD WEST agents West and Gordon are assigned to free a fellow agent from Devil's Island at 7:30 p.m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10. West takes the place of a prisoner who has been committed to the island while Gordon finds work as a guard, both trying to outwit the evil prison commandant.

TIME TUNNEL at 8 p.m. on Ch. 7 repeats "The Day the Sky Fell In," a flashback in time to Pearl Harbor, when Tony tries to prevent the impending death of his father during the Japanese attack.

MAN FROM UNCLE at 8:30 p.m. on Chs. 2, 5, and 12 repeats "The Her Master's Voice Affair," with guest star Estelle Winwood. At a fashionable girls' school, Napoleon and Ilya discover a diabolical Thrush scheme to hypnotize the daughter of a Japanese ambassador.

CBS THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p.m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 presents the film adaptation of the Pulitzer Prize-winning bestseller, "Advise and Consent," which deals with the dramatic game of national politics and was photographed principally in Washington, D.C. The all-star cast includes Henry Fonda, Charles Laughton, Don Murray, Walter Pidgeon, Peter Lawford, Gene Tierney, Franklyn T. Jones, Lew Ayres, Burgess Meredith, Eddie Hodges, Paul Ford, George Grizzard and Inga Swenson.

LAREDO at 10 p.m. on Chs. 2, 5, and 12 offers "A Double Shot of Nephenthe," in which two criminals inject Ranger Bennett with a mind-paralyzing drug and order him to kill Capt. Parmalee.
